JAPAN AND GERMANY TO LEAD AN ANTI-BOLSHEVIK FRONT?

TENSION IN PEIPING NOT DECREASING FENGTAI INCIDENT SETTLED JAPANESE IN CONTROL Peiping, Yesterday.

Considerable tension prevails here as a result of a collision between Chinese and Japanese troops at Fengtai, 15 miles south of Peiping, last evening, following an alleged insult to a Japanese officer on horseback by Chinese sentries. Although there was considerable firing there were no casualties.

While the parties are still confronting each other negotiations between high Chinese and Japanese officials are proceeding for a peaceful settlement of the incident.

SETTLEMENT REACHED

Peiping, later: The Fengtai incident has been settled by the Chinese evacuating their barracks and leaving Fengtai. The Japanese are now occupying the Chinese barracks and wholly control the town.—Reuter.

(Details of the clash will be found on Page 11.)

FRENCH LABOUR CONDITIONS

Serious Petition To The Premier

"SUNDAY HERALD" SPECIAL
Paris, Yesterday.

Three hundred engineers and works foremen of the Paris metal industry have handed M. Leon Blum, the Premier, a petition declaring that all the authority in the works in question has disappeared, and the power has passed into the hands of irresponsible mischief-makers, whose intrigues must inevitably lead to the collapse of the Paris metal-working industries.

This pernicious agitation, says the petition, is in no way connected with the prevailing working conditions in the works in question.—Trans-Ocean Service.

NEW DANUBE BRIDGE

Joint Undertaking Decided Upon

"SUNDAY HERALD" SPECIAL
Belgrade, Yesterday.

Under the energetic impulse of the initiative of the Yugoslav Prime Minister, M. Stoyadinovitch, events in the Balkans continue to move forwards with unwonted rapidity.

After two days' negotiations between the Yugoslav and Rumanian Traffic Ministers, attended by M. Stoyadinovitch and several prominent military experts, a decision was reached to begin building the trans-Danube railway bridge at Kladovo, proposed by Rumania. This project will require the construction of about 65 miles of new railway line by Yugoslavia, towards the coast of which Rumania is said to have undertaken to contribute 150,000,000 lei.

An official communique states that the technical and financial details will be settled at further deliberations of the competent experts.—Trans-Ocean Service.

ALCAZAR BATTLE CONTINUED INSURGENTS PREFER TO DIE FIGHTING FIERCE COUNTER-ATTACK OPENED

Toledo, Yesterday.

The fighting continued until nightfall last evening among the ruins of Alcazar, but the Government troops failed to overcome the resistance of the surviving insurgents, many of whom are still manning the tumbled heaps of masonry. It is estimated that 100 insurgents were killed, while the Government lost six killed and 12 wounded. The Government troops were preparing to resume the offensive at dawn to-day.

After the explosion the survivors launched a fierce counter-attack, harassing the invaders with grenades and trench mortars. The Government troops were subsequently ordered from the ruins, after which the Government artillery pounded the occupied quarters with a rain of shells, while the Government forces erected strong barricades from which to start a fresh attack.

The infantry offensive was resumed later in the day, when the Government forces appeared to make a considerable advance.—Reuter.

TURKISH MINORITY IN NORTH SYRIA

Self-Government Sought

"SUNDAY HERALD" SPECIAL

Istanbul, Yesterday. The Turkish Foreign Minister, Dr. Tewfik Rushdi Aras, is about to leave for Geneva and Paris to negotiate with the French Government about the grant of self-government to the Turkish minority in the region of Alexandretta, in Northern Syria. The Turkish press is conducting a campaign in favour of this proposed change.—Trans-Ocean Service.

MARIA WENDT CASE

Alleged Dope-Smuggler Awaits Trial

Los Angeles, Yesterday. Maria Wendt is seriously ill with influenza, and her trial for alleged dope-smuggling has been postponed.—Reuter. Maria Wendt is the pretty Eurasian girl now being held by the Californian police on charges of smuggling drugs into the United States. She was believed to be hiding in Shanghai, and a certain Dr. Stey, dismissed from the directorship of the Paulun Hospital there last week, is supposed to have facilitated her escape. Dr. Stey is being sought by the French police in Shanghai on a warrant.

BRITISH CIVIL AVIATION

Remarkable Progress Shown

London, Yesterday. A report on the progress of civil aviation, just published, shows marked expansion in the use of air travel and transport. The mileage of British civil aircraft on the Continental, Empire, and inland services more than doubled last year. Passengers increased by 60 per cent, and mails by 300 per cent.—British Wireless Service.

WEATHER FORECAST

The anticyclone now covers North China, Manchuria and Japan, and the trough of relatively low pressure extends from the China Sea to the Carolines. The forecast for to-day, as issued by the Royal Royal Observatory last evening was: North-east winds, moderate, fine generally.

FAMOUS FLIER KILLED

London, Yesterday.—The famous airman Campbell-Black was fatally injured when taking off at Speke Aerodrome, Liverpool. His plane was involved in a collision with another plane. Campbell-Black died in hospital.—Reuter. Campbell-Black is seen in the above picture with C. W. A. Scott, right, and the D. H. Comet plane, Grosvenor House, in which they won the London to Melbourne air race.

ATTACK ON OVIEDO REVOLT THREATENED IN MADRID

"SUNDAY HERALD" SPECIAL

Paris, Yesterday.—The leader of the Red troops in the Asturias, General Condolo Penno, is threatening to take Oviedo—where an insurgent group, cut off from the main body, is still holding out—by the same tactics which were applied at Toledo, according to reports reaching here from Spain. An ultimatum will be delivered to the Nationalists at Oviedo to-day, warning them that women and children must leave the town within 24 hours.

U.S. TRAGEDY OF THE SEA

Fishing Trawler Sunk In Storm

New York, Yesterday. Thirty-four of the men missing after the trawler was sunk in Delaware Bay have been found alive on a barge two miles from the shore.—Reuter.

An earlier message said that 39 persons were missing following the sinking of a fishing trawler at the entrance to Delaware Bay during a hurricane.

PORTSMOUTH TO S. AFRICA AIR RACE

London, Yesterday.—The Royal Aero Club announces that it has been decided that the finishing point of the air race from Portsmouth to South Africa, starting on September 29, will be the Rand airport at Johannesburg.—British Wireless Service.

Arabs Demand Concessions

Jerusalem, Yesterday.—Since the Pan-Palestine Congress was forbidden by the British mandate authorities the resentment among the population, both urban and rural, has grown very much sharper. The Arab committee of management meets to-day to consider the future course of action with regard to the general strike. Among the delegates "almost all those representing the local Government bodies state emphatically that it is impossible for the Arab leaders to take the initiative for ending the strike until some concessions are made from the British side.

The newspaper Falastin, which declared openly in favour of ending the strike, has been burnt in the open streets to the number of hundreds of copies. Fights between British troops and fanatic Arabs and acts of sabotage against the railways and the Iraq pipe-line continue daily.—Trans-Ocean Service.

POSSIBILITIES ARE DISCUSSED

MILITARY AGREEMENT NOT ANTICIPATED

DIPLOMATIC RECOGNITION OF MANCHUKUO MAY RESULT

Berlin, Yesterday.

The possibility that Germany and Japan will seek to lead the world in an "anti-Bolshevik front" is being discussed in diplomatic circles here in connection with the return of Dr. von Dirksen, the German Ambassador at Tokyo, who is leaving for Japan on October 13. It is believed that Dr. von Dirksen was one of the diplomats considered for the Ambassadorship in London, but his work in Japan is estimated to be too valuable to enable him permanently to leave Tokyo.

Dr. von Dirksen attended the Nuremberg Party Congress, where he met Count Schulenburg, Ambassador at Moscow, and also Herr von Ribbentrop, Ambassador to the Court of St. James, and the Ambassadors to France and Italy, as well as hearing Herr Hitler's scathing anti-Bolshevik attacks. It is suggested here that Dr. von Dirksen returns to Tokyo with orders to further the common interests of Germany and Japan with regard to the Russian question.

It is not believed that there will be any question of a formal alliance or a military pact, but the hope would rather be that a general front against Bolshevism might be built up in the world, led by Germany and Japan but supported by Britain, France and Italy. If Japan shares the German view of the Russian problem it is suggested that Germany might find it convenient to give formal diplomatic recognition to Manchukuo.

Among those holding discussions with Japanese experts in the past week was Herr von Ribbentrop, who is said to be a strong supporter of the scheme.—Reuter.

HIS MAJESTY AT BALMORAL

ROUSING WELCOME DELIVERED

SERVANTS FORM GUARD OF HONOUR

London, Yesterday.

His Majesty the King and H.R.H. the Duke of York arrived at Balmoral to-day, this being the King's first visit since his accession to the throne.

The Royalites were given a rousing reception as the train passed the Aberdeen station. The King and the Duke, in Highland costume, alighted at Aberdeen station for a few minutes to acknowledge the welcome.

The Highland retainers at Balmoral Castle lined the entrance to the Castle as a Guard of Honour on the arrival of the King.—Reuter's Bulletin Service.

GREAT ENTHUSIASM

London: The train, with a special saloon in which the King travelled north last night, reached Ballater station at 8.30 this morning. A Guard of Honour was mounted by the 1st Battalion of the Gordon Highlanders. A large crowd had gathered and cheered His Majesty and the Duke of York when they drove off to Balmoral. When the train halted at Aberdeen the crowds which had come in the hope of catching sight of the King cheered enthusiastically when he and his brother descended to the platform in Highland dress and acknowledged their greetings.—British Wireless Service.

MUSSOLINI'S CONDITIONS

FOR RE-ENTRY INTO LEAGUE

Geneva, Yesterday.

A public meeting of the League Council was held to-day at 5 p.m. At yesterday's meeting of the Council M. Avenol, Secretary-General, reported on his recent visit to Rome and his interview with Signor Mussolini and the Italian Foreign Minister, Count Ciano.

He stated that Signor Mussolini agreed to Italy's re-entry into the League on condition that no Abyssinian delegates be accepted at the League meetings.—Reuter's Bulletin Service.

BEDWAS MINE DISPUTE

SECRET BALLOT TO BE HELD

OWNERS ACCEPT PROPOSAL

London, Yesterday.

The owners of Bedwas Colliery, following a meeting with the South Wales Miners' Federation, have accepted the principle of a secret ballot among the Bedwas miners on the question of membership of the Federation. In consequence of this a much more optimistic outlook prevails.—Reuter.

ORIGIN OF DISPUTE

A message received on September 6 said that the Secretary for Mines, Captain H. F. C. Crookshank, heard the views of the rival unions in the Bedwas Colliery dispute, which threatened to involve a strike of thousands of men, but the deadlock still persisted.

The South Wales Miners' Federation had issued notices instructing all lodges to make arrangements for a cessation of work, though later the notices were withdrawn and a meeting between the owners and workers arranged.

The Bedwas Company's attitude was explained in a statement announcing its intention of standing by the Industrial Union. It said that the company suffered from continuous strikes when the colliery was worked by members of the Miners' Federation; but there had not been a single stoppage since the dispute of 1928, when the company first commenced to work with the Industrial Union.

the claims made are proved a fallacy? Would you buy that article a second time? While advertising is a powerful force in educating as to the uses, merits or money saving advantages of a product, the people are the judges when they make their first purchase. "Delivering the goods" is what they demand, and the scrap heap of failures is piled with goods that could not stand the test of public judgment. "ASPRO" messages are carefully planned to prove what "ASPRO" can do to alleviate pain and suffering, and the reason of its success throughout the civilized world is simple, because it fulfils all claims made for it. Its purity is its safety, and its quick action the healing service humanity appreciates. "ASPRO" conforms to the standard of purity laid down by the British Pharmacopoeia (the guiding authority of the Medical Profession), and the 15 uses enumerated below make it an invaluable quick first-aid emergency in every home.

GIVES QUICK AND SAFE RESULTS

Great Relief After 14 Years' Suffering

2, Thomas St., Lewisham, N.S.W.
28/2/33.
Dear Sirs,
I have been suffering from Rheumatism and Arthritis for 14 to 15 years. I have taken a course of your "ASPRO" Tablets—three after each meal—and often when in pain, have taken an extra dose before going to bed. I have obtained very great relief from this treatment; in fact, I do not know how I could have continued to move about without "ASPRO". The pain has gradually improved. And now I find I need to take "ASPRO" only occasionally. I can confidently recommend "ASPRO" to all sufferers from rheumatism.
(884) A. H. BURNS.

15 PROVED USES

- 1—It relieves Headaches in 5 to 10 minutes.
- 2—It brings Sweet Sleep to the Sleepless.
- 3—It relieves Rheumatism in one night.
- 4—It will ease the Numbing pains of Neuritis and Neuralgia.
- 5—Take "ASPRO" to relieve Toothache.
- 6—"ASPRO" taken according to directions will smash up a Cold or Flu attack in 24 hours.
- 7—It brings relief without harming the heart.
- 8—It soothes away Irritability.
- 9—It speedily reduces Temperature.
- 10—The stabbing pains of Sciatica and Lumbago can be hunted out with "ASPRO".
- 11—It can be taken at any time, in Tram, Train, at Home, at Business—anywhere—everywhere.
- 12—It gives great relief to women when depressed.
- 13—It relieves ill after-effects of Alcohol.
- 14—It relieves Dengue and Malaria by reducing the Fever.
- 15—As a Cough "ASPRO" is wonderful for Sore Throats and Tonsillitis.

A Gentleman Always Pays

By TED MARSON

WITH one quick flash of his practiced eyes, Mr. Fancy Dan McConnell of Brooklyn and Chicago surveyed the swank lobby of the Sheridan Arms, then stepped into the telephone booth. "Give me Mr. Widgery . . . Mr. Elmer Thrush Widgery . . . registered from Montreal," he ordered. "I'll connect you with the desk," announced the flat voice of the bored operator. Although he could see nothing but the decorative bronze fittings inside the telephone booth, Fancy Dan could feel the desk clerk gesture disdain as that supercilious individual announced: "No Widgery registered."

Neither that flat announcement nor the annoyed voice of the desk clerk retarded Fancy Dan. As a matter of fact, Fancy Dan was not at all surprised to find no Widgery registered. He was more certain than the desk clerk that no Widgery was at the Sheridan Arms.

"Mr. Widgery," he insisted into the mouth piece, "is a terrible penman. But I'm sure he's here . . . a guest of Mrs. Dexter." He paused. "Oh," he murmured reflectively. "Mrs. Dexter would know." Then louder: "Could I speak to her, please?"

He listened patiently to the intermittent buzzes and clicks. "Three-O-two does not answer."

Fancy Dan nodded his happy thanks to the instrument, strode briskly from the booth and through the drug shop into the street.

Ryan, big and hard-faced, lounged at the wheel of the long sedan by the curb. Fancy Dan stepped to the door, waited while the big guy leaped out to open it, and sank into the empty rear seat with a dignity which belied his Brooklyn waterfront upbringing. "Around the block," he ordered. Moving slowly into the stream of traffic, the big chauffeur cocked his head half around to the back seat and began to talk to his dignified young passenger in terms not quite fitting. "Out with it, for the love of Mike," he barked. "Whatta ya got?" The tough guy's getting nervous already, thought Fancy Dan. But his thoughts didn't show. He was calm, cold. "Cut the jitters, Ryan," he said. "I got the room number—straight." He began asking quick, precise questions. "The old dame come out of the hotel?" "Right ahead of you, blooming like all her five million rocks." "How 'bout the maid?" "Right behind her, and Jeez Maria, if she ain't a looker I never saw one."

Fancy Dan brushed this aside. "I wonder where that maid went?" "She piled into a cab and went straight on east," Ryan answered, pulling the sedan up to the curb again only a short distance from the spot where it had been parked before.

"It'd been better if we could have got her out with that phony call. Then we'd know she wasn't gonna stalk back in there."

"At ease," Ryan barked. "Do ya think a swell number like that's gonna spend her two hours off just sitting around looking at picture books? She'll time herself to come barging back in the apartment about three minutes ahead of the madam herself."

If Ryan indicated that Fancy Dan was losing his nerve worrying about the untimely return of Mrs. Dexter's maid, he was wrong. Fancy Dan already was sweeping the hotel entrance with his quick glances. At the same time he was turning his reversible topcoat so the gray side would be out.

"Okay," he breathed as Ryan opened the door. "Keep this car right here . . . better start the engine and keep it running. I might be in a hurry to get some place when I come out that door."

He stepped into the street, a dignified gentleman with a walk of a man about 50.

As this same gray gentleman crossed the lobby the house dick behind him, Fancy Dan now regained the quick, instinctive poise which had pulled him out of holes before.

Fancy Dan grinned inwardly. No connection in that clerk's mind between the middle-aged, grayish gentleman and the youthful voice that had just inquired for Elmer Thrush Widgery.

He walked slowly, paused to examine the magazines at the cigar stand until both elevators had left the main floor. Inconspicuously he moved away and just as inconspicuously he slipped up the broad stairway. He had learned through painful training that there was no percentage in passing up little details: elevator boys could be too wide-awake and they could talk too much in these places.

Walking hesitantly down the corridor, Fancy Dan at all intents was slowed by the difficulty of fumbling for the key to his room—until the woman up the hall turned the corner. Then, quickly, he darted to the door which his eye had marked during his awkward fumbling for the imaginary keys.

Entrance proved surprisingly easy, almost suspiciously easy. His master duplicate turned noiselessly.

He stepped in, closed the door. A big living room beckoned beyond the little hallway where he stood, listening.

In spite of the background of his youth and his profession, Fancy Dan McConnell was never one to pass up good and expensive tastes. It was apparent that Mrs. Dexter had class. The furnishings in the suite originally had been in the slightly bizarre motif so dear to residential hotel decorators. But now the atmosphere was chastened, toned down by heavy drapes and soft shadows.

Fancy Dan moved forward, carefully scanning the walls for a clue. Just where would it most likely be hidden? Probably behind that

A THING OF THE PAST

"Uh huh," he grunted. He knew all about when they brought them. Hadn't Ryan spent the whole day across from the Sheridan watching until that armoured delivery truck arrived?

"And after all that hocus-pocus of getting them here," continued the girl, "what do they do but put them in that safe and then find out that nobody in the place can open it? That's why we called."

He almost visibly relaxed at this explanation. She really believed he was from Mowry's.

"Show me that cheese box," he ordered.

She stepped past him to the mantel, pushed aside the drape. He caught the scent of her hair. The only visible part of the safe was the metal combination.

Fancy Dan knelt, ran practiced fingers over the dial. It was a delicate, a tricky bit of mechanism. A tough job. But this was the sort of thing that put a kick in his profession, this duelling with unyielding metal with all odds against him.

Fancy Dan had pride in that profession. He never fooled with nitro or any other such crudities. He twisted the dial, listening for that vital first click.

Over him, he felt the warm presence of the girl's body. She was watching him curiously.

"You sure are light-fingered," she observed.

"Listen, honey," he said. "You've got a beautiful face and a swell figure and your eyes do things to me. But I'm working. I'm in a hurry, see?"

That ought to stop her. Would it?

It didn't.

"You look absolutely swell—elegant when you get all hard-bolled like that," she remarked, dropping a caressing hand to his hair.

Fancy Dan arose with military precision. With the same precision he pulled the girl to him and kissed her. Her lips seemed almost unyielding for a moment. She raised her hand to the back of his head. Fancy Dan felt his face get hot. At the same time, there arose an instinct born of two previous experiences with damsels, clearing his head of everything except the necessity of the moment.

He released her suddenly. Her eyes were closed. Her lips were parted.

"I've never been kissed so completely in my life," she breathed.

"You probably spent your life in a convent," he answered, and quickly resumed his work.

He was himself again. No more kidding. No more fooling. Now he had to get rid of her. If she stayed, he'd have to turn over the rocks to her tamely. Or else he'd have to tap her on the head. But he didn't want to think in that direction.

He finally got the first click he wanted from the whirling dial. He stopped. Reversed. Caught the second nicely. Reversed again. Paused, struck with inspiration.

"Listen," he said. "You're a swell gal, but this is ticklish business and I get jittery even when ordinary people watch me work but alone you." He added that last gracefully.

"Sure," she said pleasantly. "I'll be in the kitchen. There might, just might be the makings for a drink in the icebox."

The third number took a lot of finding but Fancy Dan nailed it finally. He spun the dial again, heard the fourth faint click. At his impatient tug, the door swung open.

But for a slender leather case, the tiny vault was empty. Fancy Dan snatched it up, cast a single glance at the historic emeralds within and started for the door. He stepped quietly. Hell to leave a girl like that, but business is business and no more chances.

"Your highball," she said, smiling from the dining room doorway.

Five feet to freedom—

He shuffled across the room and accepted the glass.

"Oh, you got them . . . swell," she said casually, holding out her hand.

"The emeralds," croaked Fancy Dan, sickly dropping them into her hand.

He downed his highball in two bitter gulps.

"I wonder how they'd look on me," he was saying, fondling the emeralds with caressing hands.

She turned to him, green flame leaping at her throat.

Another thing, he decided further, the poor kid would lose her job at least, and probably she'd be blamed. But—

He eyed her calculatingly.

"These emeralds were never meant for anybody but you, baby," he said, taking her gently in his arms. That small logical voice within him whispered, but like so many other small voices in so many other men, it was drowned out by stronger and more ancient voices.

"Oh gee," murmured the girl, breaking away. "I've got to hurry and get these things over to the jewellers. She wants a new clasp on it."

LONDON LETTER

COUTOURIERS ENGAGED WITH MOTIFS AFFORDED BY CORONATION DRESS

LONDON.—The coming coronation is already having its effect on the dressmaking world. Coutouriers are visiting the London Museum to study the ceremonial clothes worn by peeresses at King George's coronation in 1911 and the Earl Marshal's dress regulations are eagerly awaited.

Should court dress be permitted instead of coronation robes the dressmakers would have an opportunity of using the magnificent modern fabrics unknown in 1911. Gem-studded fabrics may be used and other materials chosen to set off the priceless jewels that will be worn.

In any case, the dress regulations will probably differ from those for King George's coronation. King Edward will have mediaeval precedent to guide him if he decides to modify the coronation robes. It is only since the time of Charles II, for instance, that barons and baronesses have worn coronets, while they wore robes for the first time at James II's coronation. Any modifications in coronation dress would apply to peers' robes and those of the royal family, as well as to those worn by peeresses. The two ceremonial peeresses' garments whose fate is in the balance are the robe and kirtle. The robe consists of a cape with train extending on the ground to a length decided by the wearer's rank. The kirtle is a velvet dress with a white or cream petticoat of lace or silken fabric, forming a front panel.

Meanwhile, Peter Russell has evolved a jewel code for fabrics and colours. The perfect material for wear with diamonds, he says, will be white satin, with jewels actually let into it—black onyx outlined with diamonds will be inserted here and there as if the fabric were spotted. With emeralds you should wear a new pale lime shade—apple juice white; with sapphires a spun glass hopsack fabric of a lavender shade, with glassy surface; and with amethysts a moire woven with golden glass, the shot shades being mauve and chartreuse yellow.

Birmingham firms are already busy with the production of souvenirs and medals, one firm having sent samples for 40 different types to all parts of the world. Two firms are extending their premises for the making of flags, and one of these estimates that it will make 20,000,000 flags, besides festoons, garlands, bunting and paper dresses.

FLOWERS IN INTERIOR DECORATION

FLOWER decorations are so important in modern houses that they can be considered an essential part of the furniture. Large flower groups, built up to make a picture, are placed in plaster pots and urns of enormous glass jugs on the floor in corners of the room. A flower picture of green beech leaves with lilies or peonies is placed where the leaves reflect on to the wall in sunlight—a most attractive decoration for pastel painted walls.

The vogue of the flower table has returned, but a modern table must be made of glass, with ironwork supports painted white. On it stand a white, black or pastel tinted pot containing a flower group, and two or three shallow china bowls or shells filled with flower heads in the same colours.

FOR YOUR DOG

THOSE who have known the heart-breaking experience of washing a dog only to have him roll his wet fur in the dirt a minute later, are now to be assisted by a sack in which to wrap the animal when he emerges from the water. These sacks are of thin white towelling, and close along one side with a slide fastener. The dog's head, of course, is outside. These sacks are intended for dogs that are especially susceptible to chills. The pet is rubbed dry inside the sack before he has a chance to roll.

For the dog who jerks himself about when he is led by the leash, shaking himself and straining his master's arm, a wire spring affair has been contrived to lessen the shock. This spring, about three inches long and as thick as a pencil, is attached with clamps between the collar and the leash. Some leashes now come with horizontal thongs which are inserted at the base of the loop handle, thus enabling the leader of the dog to get a strong grip. The leashes are made of braided leather.

little tricks

BROWN paper moistened with vinegar will be found very effective in polishing tins.

TO give an added lustre to silver, dissolve some alum in water, making a strong brine. Skim this carefully and add a little soap. Bottle and rub plate with linen rag dipped in the solution.

TO remove spots and stains from kid gloves, obtain an airtight cardboard box with a closely fitting lid. Bore holes about two inches from the top and then thread string across, and lengthways, making a netted tray. You can purchase from your chemist two ounces of ammonium carbonate and put this in the bottom of your box. This amount will be sufficient for two pairs of gloves. Place the gloves in the tray, being careful that they do not touch the ammonia. Close the box tightly and leave for two days, turning the gloves over on the second day. They will become immaculately clean.

HOLLYWOOD BEAUTY SECRETS

(By Max Factor)

Clothes And Make-Up

In a recent interview, one of Hollywood's foremost dress designers offered a set of rules for being smartly dressed on a limited budget. Breeding and good taste evidently make up the language of all personal appearance, for it is really remarkable to notice how effectively these same ten rules apply to the purchase and use of beauty aids. Let's review them and see:

1. Avoid all fripperies. Make-up, too, has its gadgets and gowaws. Fortunately, however, they pass like comets. The amount of good to be derived from mechanical means of supporting double chins or rolling off fat has yet to be proven.

2. Invest your clothes money on quality fabrics. Here is shades for evening wear. But a dressing table crowded with a multitude of rejuvenating creams and other so-called "miracle workers" which claim all sorts of mysterious ingredients is just an expensive way of fooling yourself.

9. Don't strive solely to be different. Classic clothes are not only safe but are distinctive and always in perfect taste. Bizarro styles like thin, sky-high eyebrows are mere attempts to be sensational; but genuine charm is never sensational. There's real beauty hidden in your features; bring it out, don't distort it.

10. Avoid cheap jewellery and jewelled trimmings, particularly clips. If you must an eloquent make-up moral. For instance, no price is really too great to pay for such an important thing as purity protection. You have only one face; guard it well.

3. Don't make yourself a slave to the latest fashion edicts. Good make-up knows no fads or fashions. Matching your cosmetics with the colour of your dress or fingernails is contrary to every principle of Nature. You were given certain facial colourings which seldom change; enhance them with harmonious, natural shades of make-up and you will always be sure of looking your best.

4. Dress to suit yourself, not your neighbour. Likewise, don't use a certain shade of lipstick or powder just because a friend uses it. What is good for one face is not always the best for another.

5. Shun "noisy" clothes; loud dress is the arch enemy of smartness. Too-colourful, make-up fairly shrieks poor taste. Just notice how much more pleasing it is to see features which have been accentuated with care and delicacy.

6. Don't try to be the last word in chic. Better wear a good model of yesterday, than a cheap one of to-morrow. Again quality vs. fad—the choice is obvious.

7. Don't worry about the price tag; it has no relation to smartness. Although you cannot logically expect to get more than you pay for, exorbitant prices do not necessarily indicate a corresponding measure of quality.

8. Don't strive for too large a wardrobe. Correct changes, not frequent ones, is the important thing. Don't try to complicate your make-up needs. Most smartly-groomed women use two different sets of powder, rouge and lipstick—the more vivid

VOGUE

Is The Vogue In Hong Kong

What I mean to say VOGUE is the smartest dress-shop in town to-day. It is tucked away in a corner on the first floor of the Gloucester Building, but its frocks and dresses are everywhere . . . you see them on the smartest women in town. All those well-dressers to whom you look up with so much admiration . . . you can bet your last dollar . . . all dress the VOGUE way! And that means: smartly, all the time smartly, and the most economically. Smart women are smart more than one way: they don't waste their money, but always get the most for it. There is no need to elaborate on VOGUE'S price policy. Go and look at their price-tags . . . and all will be clear to you. Incidentally, don't forget to look at the dresses. And if you don't tell me that their styles, quality of materials and workmanship surpasses everything in town, even in the much higher priced shops — I will eat my hat; And it is a big picture hat with a rose garden and two birds in the middle.

MCCARTHY WINS 50 YARDS

FOUR AQUATIC TITLES FOR LAWRENCE

MARQUES BEATS WONG IN THRILLING FINISH

A LARGE gathering of spectators witnessed the concluding events in the Colony Swimming Championships held under the auspices of the Victoria Recreation Club last night in their pool, and although the swimming on the whole was very close, no new records were established. The championships this year have been conspicuous for the fact that only one record was bettered, the 100 Yards back-stroke mark, which was lowered by a fifth of a second by Lau Po-hel, of the Hong Kong University.

Cpl. R. McCarthy, of the East Lancashire Regiment, last night became the first Serviceman to win a Colony title — the 50 Yards free-style, beating H. L. Ozorio, of the University, by a touch.

While Lionel Roza-Pereira won his first Colony Diving Championship title, and E. M. Marques recorded his first success in the 100 Yards breast-stroke championship, which he won by a touch from Wong Lu-man, of the Mak Ngah Association.

Wilfred Lawrence, the Colony swimming champion, gained his fourth championship title when he won the Quarter-Mile free-style by nearly half a minute from Pte. F. Taylor, of the East Lancashire Regiment. Lawrence thus won every event he entered for with the exception of the 100 Yards back-stroke championship, in which he was narrowly beaten by Lau Po-hel.

Best Race

The best race last night was undoubtedly the 100 Yards breast-stroke championship, in which five swimmers participated.

Before the commencement of the race, Marques, the subsequent winner, and Wong Lu-man, of the Mak Ngah Association, were joint favourites, although after the first two lengths those that were backing Marques were almost on the point of regretting it.

Both Marques and Wong Lu-man were drawn in lanes No. 1 and 2 and as a result were able to watch each other all the way. Both swam neck-and-neck for the first

TO-DAY'S BOWLS Goscombe O'Sullivan Cup Matches

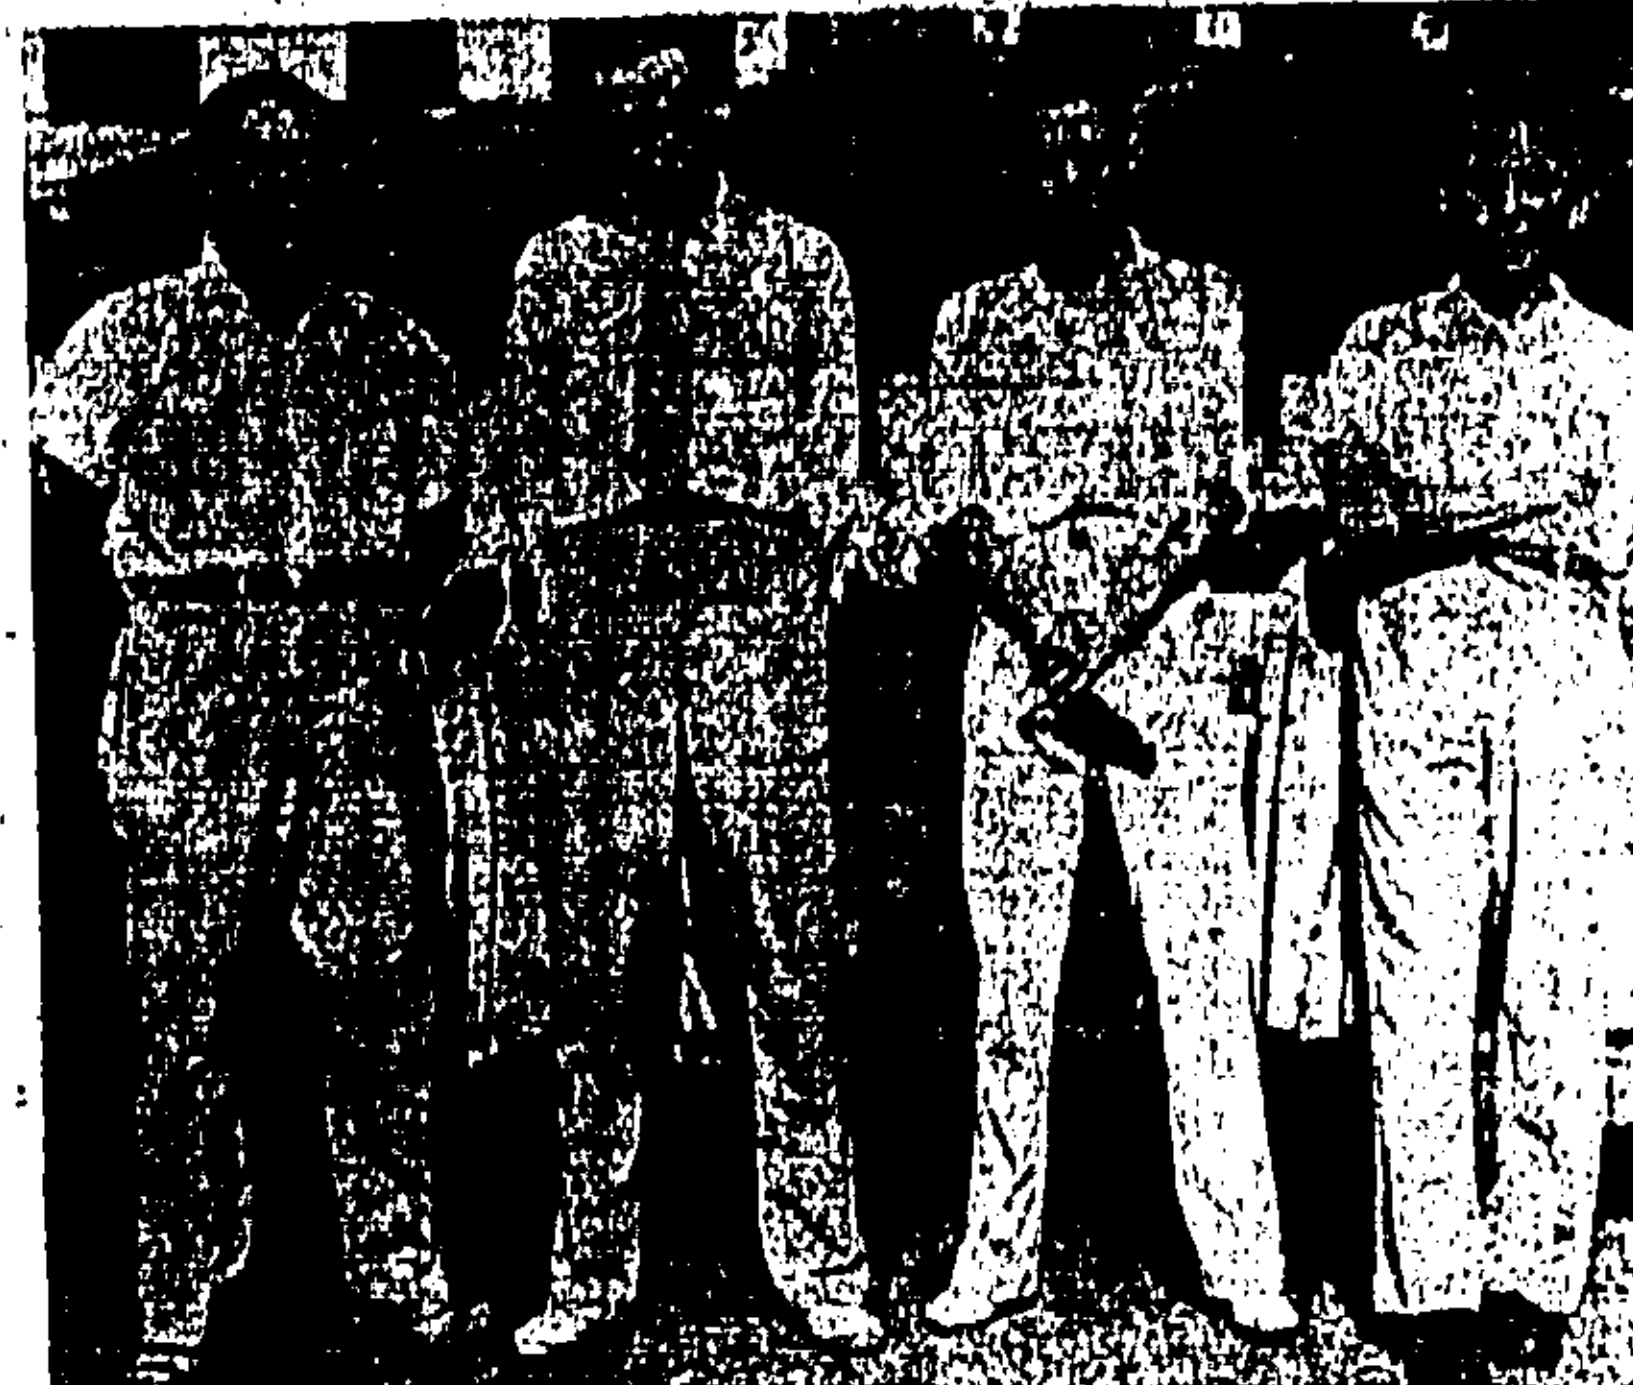

The first round of the Government inter-departmental bowls competition for the Goscombe O'Sullivan Cup will be played to-day on the Police Recreation Club green.

Four games will be played in the morning, starting at 10.30 a.m., while the other two games will be played in the afternoon, commencing at 2.30 p.m.

The following is the draw for the First Round:—
Police "C" v P.W.D. "D"
Sanitary "B" v Revenue Department

Police "B" v Medical Department.
Sanitary "A" v P.W.D. "B".
S.C.A.O. v Police "A".
P.W.D. "C" v P.W.D. "A".

Byes into Second Round:—
Small Units, and Education Department.

W. V. Field, J. S. Landolt, A. S. Gomes and R. F. da Luz (skip), above, won the Colony Lawn Bowls Rinks Championship last Sunday when they beat A. R. Dallas's rink by 22 shots to 18 on the Football Club green. ("Herald" photo).

YACHT CLUB TIE OMAR HEADS SENIOR SKIPS' TABLE

THE Yacht Club finished up their 1936 Lawn Bowls League season yesterday with a tie at the Civil Service C.C., following a 71-43 defeat earlier in the season.

Sixes were recorded by J. Cavanagh (up 16 shots), F. Cullen (up 7) and R. Wallace, who tied with W. V. Field, who scored on the last five ends!

By virtue of his win yesterday U. M. Omar now leads the senior skips' table, being 11 shots better than Bob Duncan, who also has 24 points. Hollands, with 23 points, lost a grand opportunity of securing the honours when he bowed to A. W. Grimmit by six shots.

NAZARIN AND GOSANO PROMINENT

Play Themselves Into Interport XI

PEARCE CAPTAINS ONE SIDE

In direct contrast to the first Interport Cricket Trial last Saturday, yesterday's match at the H.K.C.C. was brimful of interest and helped the selectors in no small manner.

Two players made certain of their selection—K. Nazarin, who played a very polished innings when things were not going too well with his side, and E. L. Gosano, who, after a shaky start, proceeded to use the long handle in care-free style.

Neve's Chances

H. B. Neve also showed up to advantage, and if he should come off on the K.C.C. wicket today he may quite easily secure inclusion. He treated Pereira with scant respect after he had settled down, getting the fast bowler away to the leg boundary three times in masterly fashion. He is also not afraid to hit a half volley, but he would be advised to get his left leg nearer the delivery, as at the present he is not getting sufficient power behind his attempted big hits.

Eric Mitchell, former Interport captain, again had deplorable luck, being beaten first ball for the second week in succession.

R. Lee bowled really well in his opening spell, the ball that beat Pearce being one "out of the bang." His bowling, on his own wicket, will be keenly watched to-day.

Clegg-Hill A "Possible"

Colledge again impressed as an opening bat and Clegg-Hill made one or two nice shots through the gully—he is another who is on the verge of selection, and much will depend on his form at the K.C.C. to-day.

It was significant that Alec Pearce was given the captaincy of the better equipped eleven, and it is to be hoped that our suggestion a fortnight ago will bear fruit. He handled his bowling well from the point of view of giving everyone a fair chance to show his capabilities, while his setting of the field was sound.

In the field Kilbee, Pearce, Gosano, Nazarin and Hayward shone.

Nazarin's Fine Knock

Nazarin, who played a chanceless innings for 35, scored out of 57, hit seven boundaries in a stay of 54 minutes. His best shot was a perfectly timed square cut, although he brought off one or two nice strokes on the leg side. "Tinker" Lee, who hit up 44 out of 72 in quick time had eight boundaries. Neve batted 49 minutes for his 23, scored out of 69.

Garthwaite batted in characteristic style for 57 minutes for his 47 out of 82, hitting nine boundaries, while Gosano had a six and eight boundaries in his 59, scored out of 140 in 69 minutes.

As the result of the two trials it looks very much as if the following side will be sent up to Shanghai: T. A. Pearce (captain), W. H. Colledge, K. Nazarin, C. C. Garthwaite, E. L. Gosano, E. F. Fincher, A. H. Madar, A. R. Minu, F. D. Pereira, G. Clegg-Hill and N. A. E. Mackay, with R. Lee, H. B. Neve or A. T. Lee as the twelfth man.

It will be interesting to see whether Nazarin will be given an opportunity of opening the innings in to-day's match at the K.C.C. Mackay has not yet revealed his true form and a change in the batting order may have to be made as a result.

MCLEAN IN FINAL TO MEET FISCHER OVER 36 HOLES

Garden City, Long Island, Yesterday.—Jack McLean, the British Walker Cup player, will meet W. Fischer, the American Walker Cup player, in the Final Round of the American Amateur Golf Championship.

McLean led G. Voigt (U.S.) by six up after the first 18 holes of their 36 holes (match play) semi-final tie yesterday, returning a card of 77 against 83 by the American.

The match was played in a howling gale and the conditions favoured the Scot, who was in excellent form.

Johnny Goodman, U.S. Open champion in 1933, and W. Fischer were all square at the end of their morning round, the scores being 77 and 78 respectively.

As a result of play in the afternoon round, Jack McLean entered the Final Round, beating Voigt by 8 and 7. McLean was six holes up on his opponent at the 27th, when the scores read 51-53 in the Scotsman's favour.

THE AVERAGE RICKSHAW COOLIE IS A GOOD FELLOW

Cup Of Wine And Peanuts Give Him Stamina

(By A Special Correspondent)

HOW many of us have paused to think when, in our hurry to catch a ferry or keep an appointment, we pour abuse on the poor ill-used individual who is otherwise known as a rickshaw coolie? "Fai-ti, fai-ti," is all very well in theory, but when one is in the role of the coolie it may not be quite as easy as it sounds.

There was a time when the rickshaw was our chief means of travel, for short distances, but though a taxi, bus or tram car is now used wherever possible, there is still a demand for the more primitive mode of transport. There is no denying the fact that it is very convenient to take a rickshaw to the Club for the morning refresher, for instance, or, as stated above, to catch that ferry which invariably has the knack of pulling out just as we get to the turnstile at the wharf, but even in the most trying moments it would be well for us to remember that the rickshaw coolie is, after all, human and as such is entitled to some little consideration.

In an effort to get the inside story of the life of one of this hardy band of labourers, I hailed a rickshaw and after riding for a few minutes told the coolie to stop, paying him the usual 10 cents. Li Shu thought it was pretty easy money—I had hardly ridden a hundred yards—and when I began asking questions, he was all too ready to respond.

Dreams Shattered

Li Shu said that he had had little or no education and even as a youth had dreamed of the fortune to be made as a rickshaw coolie in Hong Kong. Everybody in his native Chiu Chow thought a lot about this place, but after they had seen it their castles in the air had tumbled to the ground—Hong Kong was not quite the picture that had been painted.

He has been here for over ten years, yet the most he can make in a day is in the neighbourhood of $1.30 to $1.50, and of this 50 cents has to be paid for the hire of vehicle! The four meals that a rickshaw coolie takes every day cost another 50 cents so that even on a good day a coolie has only 50 cents over that he may send back to the family in the country, but again, of this 50 cents, there are other incidental expenses to be met. Cigarettes, clothes, straw shoes, and 5 cents per day for his house (a bed space) rent. All this has to be paid out of his meagre earnings, and it is only when tourists visit the Colony and overpay the coolies that they have a bumper season.

Simple Life

The rickshaw coolie leads the very simplest of lives. He feeds on three meals of congee and a very good meal of rice, and, unlike other labourers, he has only a few pieces of vegetable and salt fish to go with the rice. One very important part of his diet, however, is a small cup of wine and some peanuts after the evening meal—this is what gives them their stamina, and while on the subject of stamina, I asked Li Shu why he had never thought of entering a marathon race in order to win big money. The answer was the bald statement that without his rickshaw, a chair to cannot run. Can you visualise an annual marathon in Hong Kong or Shanghai with fifty-odd entrants and some of them pulling rickshaws behind them?

"Tong" Wars

Apart from his domestic worries, a rickshaw coolie is sometimes called upon to bear his part of the cares of any long war that may be going on. These people are divided in clans, the Hoklos and the Hakkas, and not infrequently petty quarrels between individual members of these clans develop into a free fight involving the whole fraternity.

Despite all this, however, the rickshaw coolie is a good fellow. He means well and, like the rest of us, is out to make as much money as possible. Sometimes, they are admittedly trying, but theirs is a hard lot.

The average rickshaw coolie earns from $1 to $1.50 per day, of which he must pay 50 cents for the hire of his vehicle. ("Herald" photo).

SLUM CLEARING IN HONG KONG

LEADING PUBLIC MEN INTERVIEWED

SIR SHOU-SON CHOW GIVES VIEWS IN NO UNCERTAIN MANNER

IN last Sunday's issue of the Sunday Herald, we published the views of some of the Colony's leading residents on the question of slum clearing in Hong Kong and this week we take the opportunity of giving the views of other leading public men. In the cases of the two professional men, an architect and a solicitor, we have, for obvious reasons, to withhold their names, but they, like the rest of the people we have interviewed on the subject, are very emphatic about the need for slum clearing in the Colony and that conditions as they are at the present are a definite stigma on the good name of Hong Kong.

The Hon. Sir Shou-son Chow, one of the most prominent Chinese public men in Hong Kong, voiced his views in no uncertain terms, but, with his mature experience of how things are done here, Sir Shou-son Chow said that he feared that the process of slum-clearing in Hong Kong would be a very arduous one.

Mr. G. R. Sayer, Director of Education, with Mrs. C. G. Alabaster, wife of the Attorney-General, at the opening of the Central British School last Monday. ("Herald" photo).

Sir Shou-son Chow said that he was in entire agreement with us when we say that it is imperative that the Colony be cleared of its slums, though it was an acknowledged fact "that there are slums in every country, but owing to the superfluous population of the Colony, and the fact that the majority of them belong to the poorer classes, you cannot expect them to live in the most sanitary conditions, for their very severe poverty makes it impossible for them to do so."

"As you know some of them earn barely $4 a month and with this sum they have to support their families, which number from anything up to about five or six."

"Owing to the proximity of the Colony to Canton, the more prosperous we get in the Colony, the more the people from that city are inclined to rush down to Hong Kong in their effort to secure employment. Because of this constant change in the nature of the slum population, I do not see how we can introduce a system of allowing so many people to so many square feet of open space."

Big Obstacle
"It is a notorious fact that the poor people must live near their work, and because so much of their work is to be obtained in quarters where rent is cheap (for the shops and factories), it would be futile to try even to remove the people to a place where living conditions are more satisfactory."

"Owing to all these difficulties, I fear we shall have to feel our way very slowly and proceed only by degrees. That the work has to be done, there is not the slightest doubt, but who is going to do it? Is the Government going to assume all responsibility, or are the landlords going to do it? On either side there is no money. I would like to see it done; I would like to see a clean Hong Kong, but I am afraid that it will be a slow process and take a long, long time."

The Hon. Mr. T. N. Chau:

"It is a very big scheme and will take a long time to carry out, but I have no doubt the Housing Commission who are looking into the question will bring a solution to the problem. Personally, I am all for slum clearing, but, as I said before, it will mean much work and take a long time."

A Prominent Local Architect:
"If the Government are going to start slum-clearing, let them then introduce more stringent regulations, and one of these would be to limit the 'lives' of the houses in the Colony."

A Member of the Legal Profession:
"Only one thing can be done about the matter."

If we are to rid the Colony of the slums. The overcrowding law must be enforced to the letter. Make it an offence to allow even more than one over the limited number of persons living in a flat."

The Hon. Dr. S. W. Tso (Senior Chinese Member of the Legislative Council): "I would like to see everybody living in a castle, but who is going to provide the money? Still, your idea is a very good one and I wish it every success."

Mr. O. Eager (Secretary of the Hong Kong Land Investment and Agency Company Ltd): "As we have not got any slums, we have not given the matter much thought. Through a mortgage, some rather 'slummy' houses came into our possession and the first thing we did was to clear the people out, and the houses are not now tenanted."

Mr. Lau King Tsing (Director of the Tung Wah Hospital): "The problem is an age-old one and needs the immediate attention of the authorities but, with the effects of the economic depression still on us, I am afraid that it is not a matter that can be attended to at once. It is, nevertheless, very important that the authorities should deal with it at the first opportunity."

The Rev. Fr. G. Byrne, S. J.: "I have read your articles, and personally I should be very happy to see everybody living in clean quarters. There are slums in every part of the world but efforts are being made everywhere to rid the places of this handicap. We should all see what we can do about the matter."

Government Appointments

The following Government appointments etc. are notified in the Government Gazette:

CHEUNG CHAU FIRE

Twenty Houses And Shops Gutted

BUT NO LIVES LOST

A fire broke out at about one o'clock yesterday morning in a place-goods shop in the Tai Sun Kai, the main street of the fishing village of Cheung Chau. As the telephone cable to Hong Kong and the mainland was broken during the last typhoon and is not expected to be repaired for about two months, the local fire brigade was informed of the occurrence by wireless.

No. 1 fireboat was immediately rushed to the scene and began pumping sea-water into the flames through several hoses from alongside the ferry wharf. The new No. 1 Police Patrol launch also arrived on the scene in a very short time and rendered valuable assistance, but about 20 Chinese houses and shops were completely gutted, though no lives were lost.

By 7.30 a.m., when the first ferry left for Hong Kong, the fire had been extinguished and only the smouldering walls were left to bear mute testimony to the destruction. The damage is estimated at several thousand dollars.

THE LEAGUE OF NATIONS

COUNCIL SESSION OPENED

FACTORS GOVERNING RETURN OF ITALY

London, Yesterday. The 93rd session of the Council of the League of Nations opened last evening at Geneva under the presidency of Senor Vicuna (Chile). The Council, which met in private, adopted its agenda and decided, in accordance with the request of the Governments of Iran and Iraq, to remove from it the question relating to the frontier dispute between those two countries.

It decided to forward to the Assembly the communications received from 18 Governments regarding the application of the principles of the Covenant.

A Geneva message says that the Secretary-General, M. Joseph Avenol, then made a statement on the circumstances in which he recently visited Italy, and informed the Council of his conversations in Rome with the Italian Foreign Minister and the head of the Government. He informed the Council that Signor Mussolini made it a condition of Italy's participation in the work of the present Assembly that no Abyssinian delegation should be present, and reported that he had told Signor Mussolini that this was a question to be decided by the Credentials Committee of the Assembly. The Council held no discussion on this point.

Economic Affairs

The 44th session of the League of Nations Economic Committee, under the Chairmanship of Sir Frederick Leith-Ross (United Kingdom) drafted a report for the Council mainly concerning the present phase of international economic relations. It states that signs of an improvement in the general economic situation are more numerous, although unequally divided among the different countries. Progress has been made rather within a number of countries without a corresponding advance in foreign trade.

The report refers to the effect of currency readjustment, the restriction on foreign exchange and the limitation of the free movement of goods. Suggestions are made as to the modification in economic policy necessary to overcome the present depression.

Other parts of the report deal with the most-favoured-nation clause, the present tendencies of clearing agreements, and exchange control.

The League Financial Committee is now sitting under the Chairmanship of M. Dayras (France) to consider the financial position of Hungary, Austria and Bulgaria, with the help of the accredited representatives of the Government of these countries, and will make a report thereon to the Council.

Peace Broadcasts

A conference of the Governments under the presidency of M. Arnold Raestad, summoned by the League, is now meeting to conclude a Convention on the use of broadcasting in the cause of peace. The question was first studied by the International Institute of Intellectual Co-operation on the suggestion of the Assembly in 1931. A draft Convention prepared and submitted to the Governments for remarks was in general favourably received. Thirty-six States are attending the meeting and three others sent observers.

At the opening the President stated: "The draft before the conference aims at the consolidation of the rights of each State regarding political broadcasts. The draft is not of a technical nature, does not affect monopoly rights nor the right to a particular wavelength, nor the limitations of such a right."—British Wireless Service.

LEAGUE SESSION OPENS

RETURN OF ITALY SIMPLIFIED

ETHIOPIA DOES NOT FULFIL COVENANT CONDITIONS

Geneva, Yesterday. The League Council opened its 93rd session yesterday with formal proceedings. It is understood that the Credentials Committee will find that the Ethiopian Government does not fulfil the conditions laid down in the Covenant, and there is little doubt that the majority of the Assembly will endorse its recommendations, thus clearing the path for the re-admission of Italy.

Meanwhile the Spanish delegate, the Foreign Minister, Senor del Vayo, protested vigorously to M. Delbos, the French Foreign Minister, regarding Portugal's alleged continued violations of neutrality in the civil war. M. Delbos agreed that the Portuguese attitude was inadmissible and intolerable. — Reuter.

ROUTINE BUSINESS

Geneva. The 93rd meeting of the League of Nations Council was opened yesterday afternoon under the chairmanship of the Chilean delegate, Senor Rivas Vicuna, the Italian delegation being absent. The Abyssinian representatives were present and it is supposed that they will be present at the first meetings. The Committee on eligibility, which usually meets in the first days of a session, will decide whether Abyssinia is eligible to be present later on.

The business taken up at yesterday's meeting was the acknowledgement of the memoranda submitted by 18 nations dealing with the question of League reform, the Council deciding to place the memoranda as well as the secretarial report before the full Assembly of the League. The Secretary-General reported on his trip to Rome and his conferences with Signor Mussolini and the Italian Foreign Minister. The next meeting will be held this afternoon. — Trans-Ocean Service.

M. LEON BLUM'S SPEECH

Adverse Comment From Italy

"SUNDAY HERALD" SPECIAL

Rome, Yesterday. The speech of the Premier, M. Leon Blum, broadcast on Thursday, is treated lightly by the Italian press, which describes it as a "hash-up of outworn ideology."

In the opinion of the Piccolo the conclusion to be drawn from the French Premier's historical and philosophical allusions is that France will firmly refuse to give up the Soviet Pact.

The Popolo di Roma states that while M. Blum made a step forward towards the Franco-German rapprochement with the declaration regarding his willingness to negotiate, he again retired behind all the walls of the "old fortress: indivisible peace." — Trans-Ocean Service.

COMING SONATA RECITALS

Booking Unusually Heavy

Proof of the interest being taken in the three Sonata Recitals to be given at the Helena May Institute on Friday next, September 25, and on October 9 and 23, is to be found in the aspect of the booking, which is already unusually heavy.

The first programme will be devoted to those Old Masters whose works stand as the traditional foundation for the music of succeeding generations. Handel's Sonata No. 4 in D Major and Beethoven's Sonata in D Major (Op. 12, No. 1) for Violin and Piano will be played by Frue Lewis and Maurice Barton, and Beethoven's Unaccompanied Sonata No. 6, played by Frue Lewis, will supply an interesting and unusual element.

Edgar Warner, tenor, accompanied by Landis A. Lafford, will sing songs by Handel and Bach. The Box Plan is at the Helena May, where tickets, single or for the cycle, may be obtained. Details will be found in our advertisement columns.

MORALE OF REBELS BADLY SHAKEN

EXPLOSION OF ALCAZAR SHATTERING BLOW

VITAL FACTOR IN DEFENCE

Madrid, Yesterday. The civil population of Toledo encamped in a bitter wind a mile and a half away and watched the explosion of Alcazar, which was mined by the Government troops and totally destroyed. The besieged insurgents gallantly awaited their fate, occasionally making desperate sallies in the hope of preventing the miners' consummating their plot.

The blowing-up of Alcazar was the culmination to one of the biggest struggles of the civil war. From the point of view of the insurgents' morale its fall is considered to be a worse blow than the fall of Oviedo and Huesca, while from the military viewpoint its importance lies in the fact that it dominates the best road to Madrid and also the Alicante-Valencia rail-line. Whoever controls Toledo controls the main outlet to the sea — a vital factor in the defence of Madrid, most of the food supplies of which come by this route.

Gibraltar. H.M.S. Queen Elizabeth, which arrived here from Malaga on Thursday, is being sheltered in French towns, daybreak yesterday with the destroyer Anthony for Malaga, where it is understood street fighting is proceeding between the various groups, and buildings are being set on fire.

The destroyer Worcester is already at Malaga, from where it is reported that Senor Vega, the Civil Governor, has urgently appealed to the Madrid Government for immediate reinforcements, following the refusal of 600 Militiamen to continue to fight against the insurgents.

Malaga Communists, in letters to Communist refugees at Gibraltar, declare that they would rather smash the whole of Malaga than surrender and be shot by the insurgents for the shooting of naval officers. — Reuter.

HUMANE WARFARE

Paris: The League of Red Cross Societies has announced that the Spanish Government forces and the insurgents have undertaken to respect the Geneva Convention and the Red Cross, and have agreed to the reciprocal evacuation of women and children. — Reuter's Bulletin Service.

TERRIFIC EXPLOSION

Paris: Large stores of dynamite which had been placed in the tunnels dug into Alcazar, the famous Moorish fortress in Toledo, were set off yesterday by the Marxist troops, according to a message from Madrid, the greater part of the structure being demolished in the terrific explosion. The inhabitants of Toledo had evacuated the town during the night and were encamped two kilometers away. The fate of the Nationalist officers and cadets who held out in Alcazar for weeks is not known, but the troops which are rushing to their rescue hope to reach Toledo in the course of the next few days.

FOREIGNERS WARNED

Paris: All foreigners in Bilbao and Santander have been warned to leave the towns by a radio announcement from the Provisional Government at Burgos, according to a report from that city, because these towns will be bombed during the next few days. The Nationalists have advanced to the immediate vicinity of Bilbao having defeated a column of Government troops which attempted to intercept their progress.

The next objects of the Nationalist operations will be the small towns of Zaraut and Zumaya, about 36 km. from San Sebastian. The Nationalist body in Oviedo, cut off from the main body, is still holding out against the Marxists. The town of Trubia, which contains important ammunition factories, was occupied by the Nationalists after a heavy fight, a considerable amount of war material falling into their hands.

PREMIER'S NARROW ESCAPE. Lebanon: Great activity on part of insurgent forces is reported from Coruna, bombs having been dropped on Cuidad Real. Troop and provision trains en route to the front have been derailed and the Madrid South railway station, as well as other strategic places, has been bombed. It is reported that during one of these bombardments, a bomb dropped on the roof of the War Ministry, and, falling through the building, exploded not five metres away from the office of the Premier, Senor Largo Caballero. — Trans-Ocean Service.

FOOD SUPPLIES EXHAUSTED. Hendaye, later: The situation in Santander is becoming more critical every day, food supplies having been exhausted 10 days ago. Two ships containing about

Drifting

NEVER before has Europe presented the peculiar aspect of having completely lost its bearings, and of drifting towards a cataclysm which everyone would like to avoid if but he knew what course to set. As leadership fails events move ever more quickly. No sooner has one problem been met with a plan than a wider problem presents itself to which the plan would be inapplicable. Freedom means the right to think for oneself, and the necessary consequence of thinking for oneself is that there are conflicting parties and conflicting loyalties, between which those in authority have to walk warily and not only take but give. What has happened is that the extremist temperament has pervaded the nations, and "all or nothing" is the slogan. That demand, which means the extirpation of those who disagree, makes for the moulding of a "mass humanity" which would be unattainable in fact, and utterly unenterprising if it were attainable. Life itself means individuality, diversity, the clash of ideals and theories, and it is quite certain that no one party or theory of life is big enough to contain life.

This Spanish slaughter is just as much wrapped up with the general world-condition as all the other conflicts, but it may not be obvious at first sight why Spain, which has for generations been drifting in a backwater politically and industrially, should suddenly be seen to be the battleground of forces in which every other country is concerned. At the end of the war the natural plan was to substitute a more regularised control of all nations by a League of all Nations, which would make war unnecessary. It was certainly in advance of the times, but it might have been expected that in seventeen years the popular mind would have caught up to that vision. The principle is simple enough. It was that whatever any people did within their own borders was their own affair, but it was every nation's affair to prevent armed invasion of a neighbour's territory. One cannot blame the ordinary citizen for not being willing to undertake the necessary protection of distant peoples when one notices that even in the British Cabinet there is no agreement to shoulder any such task. Speaking apparently with authority, Sir John Simon said the other day in a speech which has been quoted all over Europe: "We are not prepared to lose one British battleship even in a successful battle for Abyssinia." The significant words are the last two. To the British elector the question was not of fighting for Abyssinia, the largest remaining slave-holding State, but for a new principle of regulating international policy. One may now take it for granted that there is no method of restraining an "aggressor State" except by war—represented by the battleship—and that even England is unwilling to apply "military sanctions." Europe has drawn the conclusion that in the attempt to restrain Italy the British leadership was hopelessly incompetent, and that for any major purpose the League is useless as a peace-preserving organisation.

But the new feature in this Spanish business is that the other part of the plan is equally useless under the new post-war conditions. It is no longer possible simply to sit down and leave the nations to manage their domestic affairs. Government is a business of adjusting the claims of the individual to the claims of the State, and it becomes either impossible or inefficient for wellbeing if either claim is exalted into a tyranny. That is exactly what the opposing parties in the democratic States are trying to do. They would have us vest a dictatorship in the proletariat—which in practice means whoever can get control of the ignorant multitude—or in a corporate State, which means an equal tyranny of the employing class. What is still more disturbing is that they would have all the world adopt their own special form of tyranny, whichever it may be. Wherever there are Communists Fascists spring up to oppose them, and we are expected to watch the world being divided into the domain of these two equally absurd extremisms.

Time has worked in favour of Trotsky through the modern inventions that bring contact so intimately between all who can listen to wireless or read pamphlets, and the victory of either party in Spain would affect France very closely, and the balance of power in Europe and the Mediterranean. Spain is in any event weakened for a long time to come, but ideas know no boundaries, and whoever may win the lovers of personal freedom everywhere will have to look to their defences.

MR. D. C. WILSON

It is with sincere regret that I must record the pending departure for Home, for good, of Mr. David C. Wilson, who for the past six years has been Managing Director of Newspaper Enterprise Limited, and who has been in the Colony for the past 11 years without a leave!

As straight a man as one could wish to deal with and one whose word was his bond, Mr. Wilson has made a host of friends in the Colony, but I very much doubt whether anyone will miss him more than his own staff, to whom he has always been more of a friend than anything else.

Joining the Company in July, 1925, as manager of the printing department, he took control of the whole business on the death of my father, the late Mr. G. W. C. Burnett, in January, 1930. Since that date he has shown rare determination and zeal in the face of keen competition, and it is due largely to his sound judgment and initiative that Newspaper Enterprise stands on such firm ground as it does to-day.

There is no doubt that his resignation from Newspaper Enterprise Limited will be someone else's gain.

Although seldom able to secure much time away from the office, he has always shown keen interest in golf and Rugby football, though he did not actually take an active part in the latter sport. He has been president, vice-president and captain of the Kowloon Golf Club, winning that Club's championship twice and being runner-up on three occasions—he is the present holder. Entered by the Kowloon Golf Club in the Colony championship in 1932, he won the Visitors' Cup despite very keen opposition.

Educated at George Heriot's School, Edinburgh, he is one of the original members of the Hong Kong Heriot Club, which was founded in 1927.

Mr. Wilson, accompanied by Mrs. Wilson, whose charm has won her many staunch friends, and their three children, will be leaving for England next Friday by the S.S. Scharnhorst, and I will take this opportunity, on behalf of the staff, of wishing the five of them all the best of luck.

TO-DAY'S QUOTATION

Labour to keep alive in your breast that little spark of celestial fire—conscience.—GEORGE WASHINGTON.

THE PASSING HOUR

BY A.N.M.

NOTHING can get rid of the air of unreality that takes all interest out of our Budgets when we know that all the figures are provisional, and that surpluses and deficits depend entirely on the exchange rate of the dollar. The customary reserve of ten millions, for example, is arrived at by writing down the sterling balances to the current rate, and however depressing it may look when we are told that the balance has been reduced from ten millions to seven, we may be comforted when we reflect that not so long ago the sterling balances would have been assessed at a value that would have shown no deficit at all, and the same condition might revert without our doing anything about it. The Treasury rule is adamant, and it is quite sound, but our Government shows a due appreciation of the facts by imposing no new taxation except the rise in the motor licence fee of 20 per cent. Next year will see the end of several big public works extraordinary, with only the new Central Market on the other side of the account, and the year following will once more put the expenditure under the free control of the Treasury.

THE SALARY CUT

IN the meantime any mathematician who wants a little exercise in the Relativity theory can get all he wants by trying to calculate the results of the salary cut and the fixing of the salary exchange rate at a conventional figure as they affect the Civil Service and the public respectively. All the revenue, except some interest on balances held in London, has to be paid by the public in dollars. The trade of the Colony recorded in dollars shows an improvement on the previous year, even though the sterling valuation shows a decrease or a standstill. One may take it for granted therefore, even with the extra motor tax, and allowing for the natural human habit of grumbling at all payments to Governments, the public is at least as well able to carry the burden as in the previous year, and it has to be remembered that if the Civil Servant gets less, he will spend less, and the rest of the community will get a correspondingly smaller income. The Government is the loser by a low dollar in purchases from overseas, particularly from England, in any payments it has to make such as the new airmail subvention and interest on sterling loans, also on payments of salaries of sterling-paid officers on leave and former officers now on pension. But the pensioner himself does not gain, for with a four shilling and three-penny income tax, the recipient of a pension of £500 will be lucky if he gets £400 for himself. The officer on leave gets off lightly with only the cut as a deduction; he escapes the income tax and the artificial rate of conversion. The free passage more than out-balances the amount of the cut, for that has to be paid in sterling by the Government.

THE RATE OF CONVERSION

A VERY few simple figures will indicate that in its effects the conventional rate of conversion of sterling salaries is far more important to an officer than the cut, and as most of an officer's time is spent in Hong Kong it is also more important to the revenue. Let us, for simplicity, keep September 25, 1898.—Sir Henry Blake, Governor, arrived in Hong Kong.

THE COST OF LIVING

AN objection to these calculations will of course at once occur with the thought that if the salary varies, so does the cost of living. That a lower dollar means in the end that everybody has to pay some more dollars to live in the style he is accustomed to is true in the abstract, but in application it is only another illustration of the inconsistencies of the incidence of rises and falls. Nobody would argue that there has been a rise in the cost of living corresponding to the difference between $5,000 and $8,000. To domestic servants, taxi-drivers, coolies, and most shop-keepers, a dollar is simply a dollar and that is the end of it. Rents have actually been falling, because so many houses and flats are vacant, and Government quarters are not affected. Liquor and tobacco cost more because the duty has been raised, and in any case they are luxuries under the control of the individual. Tailors charge rather more because they import the cloth—but they frequently charge more without that excuse. Logic, and such abstractions as "economic levels" have simply nothing to do with the complex effects of these currency changes. They would indicate that as the dollar was at two shillings when the sterling salaries were fixed, abstract justice would be satisfied if an exchange rate with the same purchasing power were maintained. But in any case a moderate rise of exchange would make more material difference than the cut.

Navigating Ships By Radio

By
Captain J. G. BISSET R.N.R.

SHIPS frequently cross the ocean without getting a glimpse of the sun, moon, or stars by which to calculate their latitude or longitude.

In these circumstances they navigate solely by chart and compass, employing the method known as "dead reckoning." This involves estimating the ship's speed and making allowances for varying winds and currents, over a distance of 3,000 miles, and is liable at times to considerable error. In pre-radio days, "making the land" after such a voyage was a matter of grave uncertainty—especially in thick weather—and much valuable time was lost groping about taking soundings and listening for fog-signals in an endeavour to establish the ship's position.

Value Of Wireless

Now wireless has revolutionised this branch of navigation away by means of a "direction finder" instrument on the bridge; it enables him to determine his exact position and to proceed on his voyage without delay.

The "D.F." instrument, as we call it, consists of a small loop aerial fitted to the top of a metal pole about 12ft. high. This aerial can be rotated as required by a horizontal hand-wheel placed over the top of a gyro-compass card.

The navigator listens with ear-phones for the signal of the particular radio beacon he wishes to locate. On hearing it, he gently moves the hand-wheel and tunes the signal out to zero, the pointer attached to the wheel indicating the exact direction, or bearing, of the beacon. The signals are high-pitched and distinctive.

Position Given

If bearings of two or three widely spaced beacons, such as Mizen Head (South Ireland), Round Island (Scillies), and Ushant (France) are taken about the same time, and the lines of bearing laid on the chart, their point of intersection gives the position of the ship.

Numerous radio beacons exist to-day on prominent headlands round the coasts of all civilised countries. In thick weather they send forth their special signals continuously, and in clear weather twice every hour.

For the benefit of ships not possessing "D.F." instruments, many coastal wireless stations are so fitted, and will, on request, give any ship her own bearing from the station.

Work In Groups

In most cases these stations work in groups of three or four, and a ship requesting a bearing gets replies simultaneously from them all, enabling her to "fix" her position with accuracy.

British stations make a charge of 5s. for this service. American and Canadian stations are free.

The fact that twelve Canadian "D.F." stations provided 41,625 such bearings during 1931-32 indicates the tremendous value of radio to all classes of shipping. Bearings taken from automatic radio beacons by navigators must exceed this number many times over.

In a way that few landsmen realise.

The captain of a ship approaching the Scilly Islands, which is the first landfall for most trans-Atlantic shipping, can obtain bearings when 200 or 300 miles

Nymphs in a sylvan setting. A charming picture of the Misses Vera Crappell and Dorothy Clay.

Mainly about WOMEN

Candy And Skyscrapers

CERTAINLY there are two women of genius in the business world, and plenty to be told about them. One is Ora Snyder, the "Candy Queen." Twenty-eight years ago Mrs. Snyder was suddenly faced with the problem of earning her living. She had no training or experience; the only thing she could do was make "candy," having done so for a large family of brothers and sisters.

She solemnly charged herself with a nickel for the white of an egg and some sugar, made candy with them and sold it to children at a nearby school. With the proceeds she bought more material, and at the end of a week had made over four dollars profit. In a few weeks she was selling her wares on commission, and in 12 months had $1,000.

And now in Chicago she owns what is called "The sweetest building in Chicago"—eight storeys high. From top storey to cellar it is devoted to the production of candy, every kind of sweet you can imagine. The rent is $30,000 (gold) a year, and the whole business is owned and controlled by Ora Snyder. As well as the factory, there are 15 stores in Chicago, and candies are sent all over America.

Mrs. Snyder's slogan is: "I can't make all the candy in the world, so just make the best of it," and really it seems that she does. Incidentally, she managed to keep on all her employees during the depression, she has never borrowed a penny, and never been in debt.

Perhaps even more sensational is Geneve Shaffer, who is known from coast to coast in the U.S.A. as "The Skyscraper Girl." She is still in her thirties, has a lovely smile, and affects the picturesque in dressing instead of slavishly following the prevailing fashion. Her father died suddenly leaving his family in unexpectedly straightened circumstances. Geneve, still at school in short frocks and long curls, searched the papers offering posts for women. Nothing looked like real money, so she turned to jobs for men. There was a firm advertising for a real estate salesman, so, donning a skirt of her mother's and piling up her curls, Geneve played truant from school and applied for the position along with a long line of men. She was greeted with ridicule, but was so persistent that she was finally given a bundle of cards and told that they were "prospects." For weeks, before and after school, she hunted up the addresses so obtained only to find that most of them were years old, and that the clients had long since moved. However she finally succeeded in selling one of the properties.

While she was working she continued her education at night school and took a course of journalism. When her invalid mother died and her brother was ordered a long sea voyage for his health, she set about planning a trip round the world for them both. Funds were scarce, so she approached several newspapers for a job of travelling correspondent. None of them would listen to her, but she found out that the Hearst Press was particularly interested in the East, and said: "If I can get what you want, will you pay me?" Expecting to hear no more about it, they promised. But Geneve set out for China and Japan, and the material she sent back was so good that the Hearst Press paid all her expenses, and she subsequently made three other trips abroad for them, visiting every European country except Ireland and Russia.

In the intervals she carried on her real estate and promoting business in San Francisco, and won her title of "Skyscraper Girl" by having erected the tallest building in the city, and although it has now been out-rivalled, she sold the section on which the present highest building stands. And, to quote the San Francisco Examiner, "When selling skyscrapers got tame, she opened a mining department—and her first deal is a $3,000,000 sale—the biggest hydraulic gold-mine in the world, situated in Colombia, South America!"

About TOWN

Four interested spectators at the friendly soccer match on the Kowloon Football Club ground last Saturday, when the home Club's first eleven beat the Fusiliers by the odd goal in five. (From left to right) Mr. A. W. Bliss, Secretary of the Hong Kong Football Association, Mr. R. Everest, Mr. C. M. Hall and Mr. R. Hall, Chairman of the K.F.C. ("Herald" photo).

THE best news of the week was the definite arrangement for Kai Tak to be used as the Far Eastern terminus for Pan American Airways and China Airways. The impatience with which the slow negotiations were watched was not prompted by any doubt that something was going on, or that the importance of keeping Hong Kong "on the map" was being entirely lost sight of. When questions of trade routes or passenger traffic are under consideration there is no getting away from geography, and from the geographical point of view there is no getting away from Hong Kong. There was complete appreciation of the fact that in the early stages it was opportune to put forward claims for reciprocity, and also that every month was improving the serviceability of big passenger planes. But there was a danger that, if only for bargaining purposes, some other drome than Kai Tak might be selected, and that it might be a difficult thing to alter the plan in face of the vested interests that grow up so quickly. We accordingly advocated that the drome should be run on the same principles as the the harbour—free access and equality of conditions for all. Quite possibly air transport may rob our liners of some of their custom, but that is inevitable, and it is also possible that an equal number of passengers may be forthcoming who make their journeys partly by air and partly by sea. We have plenty of accommodation for these birds of passage; in fact all our arrangements make Hong Kong a thoroughly suitable "Clapham Junction of the air."

Airmindedness

CHINA Airways is partly owned by American capital, and there may be a query whether British capital is not being frozen out. To that there are several answers, if we look far enough into the future. The first is that it is natural that China should develop airmindedness rather slowly, considering what a revolutionary development it is. The best method is to do nothing to prevent its growth, and to await the day when it has grown to be a matter of course instead of a novelty. If there is an element of suspicion of British "infiltration," as there certainly is of Japanese, and the plan of favouring American capital is intended as a politic introduction of a buffer state, that suspicion cannot be removed by a frontal attack. If it is ignored the inference will be that there is no ground for it. And the more politicians try to erect barriers against international dealings the more ingenious do financiers become in hopping over them. Air transport has not yet reached the stage of supporting itself without Government subventions. An air-line is really an effort to lay obligations of goodwill and habit on the future. When that future comes there will be other negotiations and perhaps keen competition, but competition at this stage would be merely a reckless waste of money.

The Aeroplane in War

THERE is nothing new to be learned from the internecine conflict going on in Spain so long as we study merely the land operations. The lesson that of all forms of fighting the most wasteful is a civil war is as old as the hills. But there is something extraordinarily depressing in reading the names of the famous towns the siege of which is recorded in Napier's classical "Peninsular War," and noting that after more than a century everything is happening in just the same way, with the exception that the range of the guns is longer. Aerially Spain was behind the times, and would not have had any bombers to speak of had not the insurgents got a supply at the last moment from Italy and Germany, and apparently from the newer Spains of South America. Such experience as may be derived from the tactics by foreign staffs has therefore to be qualified by remembering that what can be done against an enemy that is ill-supplied cannot always be repeated against a thoroughly equipped Power. But as far as this war has gone it has strengthened the arguments of the tacticians who have published their conclusions. In a word, there is no defence against the air bomb. The only reply is retaliation. One side can do as much damage as the other, but neither can prevent the damage.

Transport Of Troops

THE transference of several thousands of Moorish soldiers across the Straits of Gibratar is the biggest operation of that sort that has yet been attempted, but it is one of those cases where what can be risked with badly equipped or badly trained opposition could not safely be risked against an equally competent foe. The warships that might have at least molested the operation had been foolishly scattered up and down the coast to do useless damage to ports that had been occupied by the insurgents. Our own fleet was actually within range or near at hand and formed the opinion that it would not have been difficult to stop the transfer. Our people, by the way, seem to think that as the insurgents missed the chance of early success by surprise, the chances are now in favour of the Government. The conditions are very unlike any that we should be likely to have to deal with.

Lady Aquatic Champion?

MISS Josephine Chon, sister of Robert, Leo and George Chon, the Craigengower Cricket Club tennis players, is hailed as a coming swimming champion by a sound judge of aquatics, who expresses the opinion that, with proper coaching, Miss Chon should develop into a really first-class swimmer.

Interpreter's Bad Luck

IT was really bad luck on Wong Shek-hon, the Interpreter, that his entry for the Colony High Diving championship reached the V.R.C. Hon. Secretary too late, as a result of which he was debarred from taking part. What with Ed. da Roza out of the competition, on account of illness, Wong had a glorious opportunity of winning the title.

Wants To Take A Rest

WASS, the inside-left of the Police hockey team, will not be seen with the team this season as he intends giving up the game for at least this season.

By the Judge

Reward For Success

WALLY MAIR, the Police bowler, was pleasantly surprised last week when he received, through one of his colleagues who had just returned from Shanghai on piracy guard, a packet from Inspector Eve of the Shanghai Municipal Police. The packet contained a pair of cuff links with the crest of the International Settlement on them. Mair recalled that some time earlier this year, together with W. Simpson, he entertained Inspector Eve and Sergeant Pike of the Shanghai Police to a bowls match at the Kowloon Bowling Green Club and beat them.

Police Make Capture

GEORGE TSANG, the former South China "B" team leader, has joined the local police and will be seen this season in the Second Division team in the intermediate line. It was owing largely to the enthusiasm and initiative of Tsang that the South China Athletic Association entered two teams in the First Division.

Sollis's New Position

SOLLIS, of the Royal Air Force, who played on the right-wing last season, will be seen at inside-right this season. Last year he was one of their best forwards and, as he can shoot, he should do well in his new position.

T. PILE, who lost to Dr. Shaw in the Final of the Snooker Championship of the Prison Officers' Mess last year, has again reached the Final this year.

Chris Pile Will Be Missed

C. PILE, the Police and Interport soccer left-back, will not only be missed by the Police football team but by the hockey section and billiards team in the Steel, Coulson Billiards League. He will, however, be back from leave in time for the Tennis League.

All-Police Hockey Team

THE Police hockey team should do well this season as they have decided to enter an all-Police team in the Mamak Hockey Tournament this season. With the assistance of several Indian players they should be a force to be contended with.

Not Sufficient Support

W. MUIR, president of the Hong Kong Amateur Baseball Association and a keen "mat" enthusiast, is attempting to commence classes for wrestling and other forms of the same sport in the European Y.M.C.A., but his list calling for supporters has so far drawn only one name, F. Fowler.

The Royal Welch Fusiliers, above, lost to a Kowloon Football Club senior eleven last Saturday at Chatham Road by the odd goal in three in their first friendly match of the season. ("Herald" photo).

"Y" Hockey Team To Compete

THE European Y.M.C.A. Hockey Section have intimated that they will be taking part in the Civilian Hockey Tournament, to be held under the auspices of the Hong Kong Hockey Association early in October.

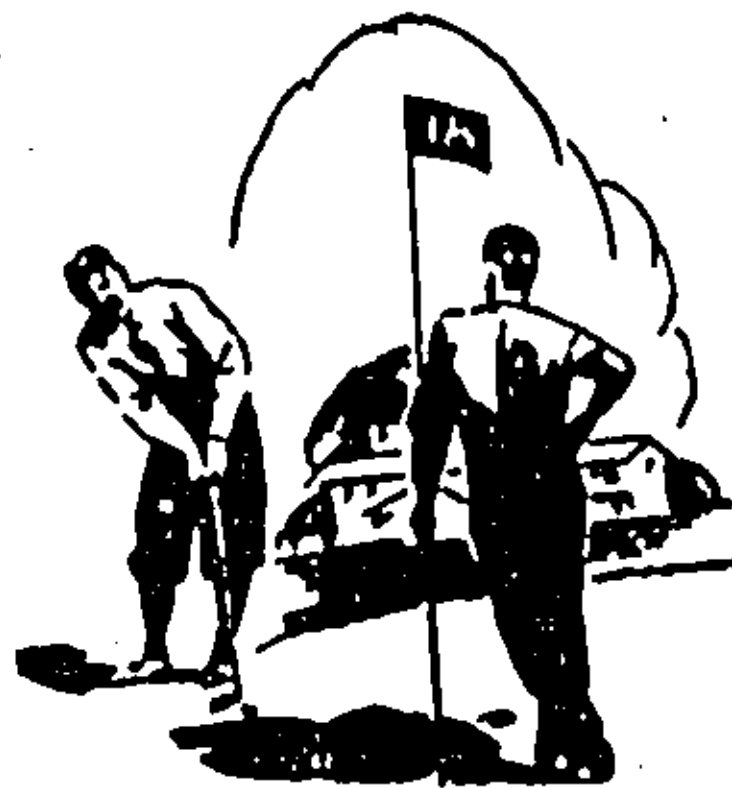

"Y" Hockey Team Strengthened

F. AUSTEN and J. Cox, of the Royal Corps of Signals, have joined the European Y.M.C.A. as civilians, but are debarred by the rules of the H.K.H.A. from playing in the Y.M.C.A. team in the forthcoming civilian hockey tournament. Both these players are among the best in the Colony and are a definite acquisition to the "Y" Hockey Section.

is a far easier and more fascinating hobby than ordinary photography. The ingenious way of inserting film has eliminated the use of complicated adjustments, such as sprockets for threading and looping the films.

Just a touch, and the film is in position and, whilst the motor is running at a normal speed of 16 pictures per second, the operator can obtain both a fast speed of 64 pictures per second for slow motion pictures, or a half-speed for 8 pictures per second, without interrupting the exposure. This alteration does not produce any under-or over-exposure, for the Self-acting Shutter-Control automatically snaps into position.

CLASH BETWEEN CHINESE AND JAPANESE AT FENGTAI

COMING MASS MARRIAGE

Applications Of Five Couples Rejected
COMMITTEE MEETING HELD

Five couples of the 28 who have registered for the forthcoming Mass Marriage had their applications rejected by the Mass Marriage Examination Committee, who held a meeting at the St. Francis Hotel yesterday afternoon.

In applying for registration, a 19-year-old student gave his age as 21 years and stated that he was a teacher, while two couples failed to obtain their parents' permission. The other two were asked to withdraw their applications, as they gave inadequate reasons for not wanting their real names published.

An application from a couple in Japan was also discussed at the meeting, and it was decided to wait until the arrival of the persons before approving of it.

Changes In Dress

After the previous Mass Marriage, which took place on February 16 last, the vernacular press commented on the attire of the brides and suggested improvements. This was also under discussion yesterday. The committee members unanimously agreed that the brides should wear shoes with lower heels than last time, while the bridegrooms will wear the same style of costume as at the previous ceremony.

The following members of the committee attended the meeting yesterday:—Messrs. Fu Sai-sai (Chairman), Lee King-hong, Wong Kwok-fong, Ho Keung-po and Cheung Lu-kau.

MISS NEE SA LONG

To Broadcast From Local Station

ACCOMPLISHED ARTISTE

Radio fans will be interested to learn that Miss Nee Sa Long, the charming daughter of the famous musician, Long Tack Sain, who is at present on a visit to her married sister, Mrs. Ernest To, will broadcast from Z.B.W. on Friday night, and in an interview with the Sunday Herald, Miss Long said that she will be delighted to render any special numbers local listeners-in might desire of her.

Miss Long has been a member of her father's troupe ever since her childhood days and is an accomplished violinist, in addition to being what is popularly known as a "Torch Blues" singer. She has broadcast in almost every country she has visited. Miss Long sings in Spanish, French, Filipino, Malay and English.

While in Hollywood Miss Long was given a screen test, as a result of which she was offered a two-year contract by M.G.M. She had to turn down this offer as she was under contract with her father's company then. For the same reason she had to reject an offer for a character part in "The Good Earth," but she is now retiring from the stage so that she will have more time to devote to film work in the future.

ARMAMENTS IN BRITAIN

LABOUR PARTY'S ATTITUDE

Government Policy To Be Supported?

London, Yesterday.

The executive of the Labour Party discussed for several hours yesterday the attitude to be adopted towards the Government's armament policy. It is learned that although no definite decision was taken the majority of those present definitely favoured rearmament. A resolution embodying that viewpoint will be submitted to another meeting of the executive at Edinburgh on October 1, with a view to its being presented to the conference as a statement of policy.

It is gathered that yesterday's proceedings were characterized by very frank speaking. Dr. Hugh Dalton made a vigorous speech in favour of supporting the Government's armaments policy and was strongly backed by Mr. J. R. Clynes and other influential members of the executive. It is understood that Mr. Herbert Morrison criticised the proposal but did not definitely oppose it.—Reuter.

WORLD'S LARGEST ORGAN

"SUNDAY HERALD" SPECIAL

Nuremberg, Yesterday.

Europe's largest pipe-organ was played for the first time before thousands in Nuremberg's festival hall at the recent Party Congress here. This gigantic instrument, containing 16,013 pipes, of which the largest is 12m. long and the smallest 1 cm., was especially designed for the new Congress Hall, where it will be installed later and used to accompany mass singing. The organ contains five manuals, one row of pedals and a special amplifying system, so that there will be uniformity of tone in the entire gigantic hall.—Trans-Ocean Service.

FORMER SALESMAN SENTENCED

Theft By False Pretences

Leung Kam Pang, aged 27, unemployed, who was charged with the theft by false pretences of 150 drums of linseed oil, valued at $1,700, on divers dates between February 9, 1934, and June 16, 1934, appeared on remand yesterday morning before Mr. G. F. Balfour at the central Magistrate's Court and was sentenced to six months' hard labour.

Mr. J. Hunter, accountant of Messrs. Dodwell and Company, Ltd., was the complainant and Detective-Sergeant Byron was in charge of the case.

Det. Sgt. Byron said that the defendant was formerly employed as a salesman by the firm. His business was to sell and not to receive any money for the firm. He had obtained the goods, through a forged order. He then sent someone to take delivery of the oil. Defendant absconded on June 10, 1934. He had no means of making amends or restitution.

PEAK CHURCH WEDDING

Thompson—Haggitt

WELL-KNOWN POLICE OFFICER MARRIED

A very pretty wedding took place at the Peak Church yesterday afternoon, the Rev. H. W. Baines officiating, when Miss Norah Graham Haggitt, daughter of the Very Rev. Dean Haggitt of Nelson, New Zealand, and the late Mrs. P. B. Haggitt, became the bride of Mr. W. P. Thompson, A.S.P., son of the Rev. and Mrs. Thompson, of Seasatter Vicarage, Whitstable, Kent.

The bride, who looked charming in a blue morocain frock patterned with white daisies, was attended by Mrs. Geoffrey Wilson as Matron of Honour. Mrs. Wilson wore a brown ensemble and carried a bouquet of yellow and orange gladioli, while the bride's bouquet was of white jasmine and white elder roses.

The bride was given away by the Hon. Mr. T. H. King, Inspector-General of Police, while Mr. A. R. S. Major performed the duties of best man.

A reception was afterwards held at No. 157, The Peak, when the health of the happy couple was drunk by a large circle of friends.

LOCAL SHARE MARKET

Upward Tendency Continues

SHARES DIFFICULT TO OBTAIN

In an interview with the Sunday Herald, Mr. C. A. L. Rickett, Secretary of the Stock Exchange, said:—

The upward tendency of our local market continues, with buyers predominating and shares difficult to obtain. The approach of settlement appears to cause no decline in prices as all shares offering are readily absorbed. China Lights are an outstanding feature, showing a rise from $13.90 to $15.75 during the week. Wharves were done at $113.00 and Providents (Old) at $2.30. Hotels rose to $6.10, Lands to $40.50, and Star Ferries to $95.00. Electrics were steady at $65.00 after payment of an Interim Dividend of $1.00. Telephones (Old) changed hands at $31.00 and the New shares at $11.25. Cements were in demand at $12.30 and business was put through at that price.

Manila Gold Shares In spite of the wet season in Manila, gold production during August was the highest on record, and there is no reason why one should not anticipate further improvement during the month of September. The "gold fever" in Manila remains unabated, and seems to have spread to all classes and both sexes.

In Hong Kong, however, the beginning of the week showed an upward tendency in the Philippine gold shares, and the undertone remained firm until the end of the week, when a decline in all price levels was recorded, no doubt owing to profit taking. The market recovered on Friday afternoon, and at the close a very firm undertone was evident. With a highly speculative market, fluctuations of this nature can only be expected.

NILE DISASTER

Forty-Five Feared Drowned

Cairo, Yesterday.

The latest reports of the Nile disaster give 45 feared to have been drowned. A party of 300 were aboard three launches being towed up the Nile. The last launch collided with a barge.—Reuter.

An earlier message stated that 200 railway employees and their wives and children were feared to have been drowned in a collision on the Nile. The party were going on an excursion in a launch and the latter came into collision with a barge and sank immediately. Only four were saved. All the victims were Egyptians.

GOVERNMENT TENDERS

SALE OF RAILWAY STORES

RECONSTRUCTION OF FERRY PIER IN KOWLOON

Sealed tenders in triplicate, which should be clearly marked "Tender for the purchase of Unserviceable Stores, K.C.R.", will be received at the Colonial Secretary's office until noon of Tuesday, September 29, 1936.

Each tenderer must attach to his tender a receipt to the effect that he has deposited in the Colonial Treasury the sum of $25 as a pledge of the bona fides of his offer. The said deposit shall be forfeited to the Crown should the tenderer refuse or fail to carry out the whole or any portion of the tender, if the whole or any portion thereof is accepted.

Tenders will be accepted for either the whole or any lots of the list of articles, full particulars of which may be obtained on application at the Head Offices, Kowloon-Canton Railway, at Kowloon.

The Government does not bind itself to accept the highest or any tender.

Kowloon City Ferry Sealed tenders in triplicate, which should be clearly marked "Tender for Reconstruction of Kowloon City Ferry Pier," will be received at the Colonial Secretary's office until noon of Wednesday, September 30, 1936.

The work comprises the reconstruction of the pier in reinforced concrete involving the construction of R.F.C. walls, bracings, landings and steps, decking, roofing, booking offices, barriers and other contingent works.

As security for the proper performance of the works under this contract the successful tenderer will be required to deposit, in cash, a sum of $1,500 with the Colonial Treasury.

Form of tender, specification and further particulars may be obtained at the office of the Director of Public Works.

The Government does not bind itself to accept the lowest or any tender.

CAPTAIN SUEN CAPTURED

MISUNDERSTANDING ON BOTH SIDES

ARMY TRANSPORTATION TRAIN DERAILED NEAR HUNAN

(From A Special Correspondent)

Canton, Yesterday. News reached here last night that there was clash between Japanese and Chinese troops at Fengtai at 5 p.m. yesterday. Captain Suen Hiang-tiang of the 29th Army was captured by the Japanese troops, and the two bodies of men shelled each other for some time. It is learned that this was due to some misunderstanding on both sides, and this misunderstanding was cleared up at midnight. The troops of both sides thereupon retreated.

Yesterday the army transportation northbound train of the Canton-Hankow Railway was derailed at Llang Tien Station, south of Hunan, and it is learned that there were a large number of casualties.

It is reported that an unexploded bomb was found in a Japanese shop at Swatow at 10 p.m. on Thursday. The Japanese Consular and the Swatow Municipal authorities are now investigating the matter. As Swatow is an important seaport in South China, Divisional Commander Li Hon-wan, formerly of the Ironsides, is garrisoning the place, while the garrison of Eastern Kwangtung is commanded by the Divisional Commander, General Tseng Yau-yen.

The Generalissimo, seeing that the provinces of Kwangsi is rich in mineral resources, has instructed the Minister of Railways, Mr. Chang Ka-ngau, to draft a plan to extend the Canton-Shamshui Railway into Nanning, passing through Wuchow. As soon as this line is finished it will be connected to the Canton-Hankow line, so that the mineral products of Kwangsi can be transported to the different provinces of the country, and the excess can be exported to Europe and America.

The Generalissimo has instructed Mr. Chen Siu-men, Commissioner of Business of the Ministry of Railways, to investigate the collision between a train and a motorbus on the Canton-Hankow Railway line last week.

Madame Chiang Kai-shek returned to Kuling by air yesterday.

SCOTS GUARDS INSPECTED

Prior To Leaving For Palestine

DUKE OF YORK'S ADVICE

London, Yesterday.

H.R.H. the Duke of York, as Colonel of the Scots Guards, visited Aldershot yesterday and made a farewell inspection of the 2nd Battalion, who leave Aldershot for Palestine to-morrow. In his address the Duke said: "You are going to Palestine under more or less active service conditions. The situation there is very delicate and your duty will be to maintain law and order—a task that carries with it very heavy responsibilities and calls for the utmost tact. As your Colonel I expect you by your behaviour, bearing and appearance, both on and off parade, and particularly in your association with the civilian population, to uphold the good name of His Majesty's Foot Guards."—British Wireless Service.

CHINA COTTON AND YARN

Prices Tend To Be Lower

Although there was a substantial rise in the speculation in China cotton and yarn at the beginning of the week, the prices during the past few days showed a tendency to be lower.

On Monday last China yarn opened at $202.50, and closed at $204. The greatest difference shown during the week was on Thursday last, when the price, opening at $201, rose steadily, to close at $203.50. It dropped, however, to $200.00 at closing yesterday.

China cotton opened at $38.70 on Monday and closed at $39. Later the price dropped to $38.35, which was the closing figure yesterday.

WOMAN'S CANDIDATURE FOR COURT OF COMMON COUNCIL

London, Yesterday.—A business-woman practising as an interior decorator in the City of London has announced her intention to offer herself as a candidate for the Court of Common Council in the Ward of Cripplegate. She is the first woman candidate for a Common Council of the City of London.—British Wireless Service.

CONDITIONS IN ABYSSINIA

Appeal To German Community

"SUNDAY HERALD" SPECIAL

Addis Ababa, Yesterday.

The former German Charge d'Affaires in Addis Ababa gave an address yesterday before the German community, in which he requested them to remain in Abyssinia, pointing out that the expected revival of economic life under the Italian administration will be to their advantage.

It was, he stated, the mission of the Germans in Abyssinia to promote commercial relations between Abyssinia and Germany, and in this way also to improve economic relations between Italy and Germany. He assured them of the support of the Italian officials, adding that the Italian administration demanded only respect on the part of foreigners.—Trans-Ocean Service.

TERRITORIAL ARMY

Enrolments Proceed Apace

London, Yesterday. Enrolment into the national defence companies of the Territorial Army, which are being formed for the purpose of protecting important points in Great Britain on the threat of and during war, opened on September 1 last, and the War Office announces that the numbers enrolled up to September 12 totalled 2,081. In addition there were some 2,500 applications for enrolment which are still under consideration.

The total establishment of these national defence companies is approximately 8,450.—British Wireless Service.

UNCLAIMED BALANCES

The transfer of the following unclaimed balances from the Deposit Account to the general revenue of the Colony is announced in the Government Gazette:—

Security for tender for supply of coal to P.W.D. of Hong Kong Government, deposited by Messrs. Wilson and Co., Ltd.: $500;

Securities for tender for supply of coal to Kowloon-Canton Railway, deposited by the On Hing Co. and Messrs. Wilson and Co., Ltd., respectively: $250 and $250.

RACING RESUMES AT THE VALLEY NEXT SATURDAY Keen Competition Anticipated In All Main Events

(By "The Judge")

AFTER an interval of two months, during which period the ponies have benefited from their rest and freedom from strenuous training, racing under the auspices of the Hong Kong Jockey Club will be resumed at the Valley on Saturday next. The grass track has been carefully nursed throughout the summer, and its present splendid condition will materially assist in fast times being recorded and, given favourable weather, there is every reason to expect a much larger gathering of racing enthusiasts during the coming half of the season.

This meeting will be featured by the reappearance in the saddle of Mr. L. G. Frost, the champion jockey, and Mr. Y. T. Fung, to whom a hearty welcome will be extended. After an enforced absence of several months due to an operation for appendicitis, from which, I am glad to say, he has now fully recovered, Mr. Frost's return is particularly gratifying.

Chief interest on Saturday will be devoted to the races confined to the "A" and "B" Class China and Australian ponies, and it may be of interest to readers to have some first-hand information regarding the ponies participating in the respective events.

Difficult Problem

The first race of the day, the Big Wave Handicap, for "A" Class China ponies, will provide punters with a difficult problem in picking the winner, as the race will be over six furlongs, and there are several speedy entries capable of winning. Although entered, I doubt whether King's Warden, which is extremely fit at the moment, will accept—the distance is too short, and its slowness in starting will consequently prove a severe handicap. Cossack's Beauty will also find the distance unsuitable, and its owners will probably reserve it for a later meeting. The same remarks apply to Diana Bay, so that, out of the remaining entries, we have Gladiator, Honey-moon Eve, Oak Bay, Royal Scot and Soldier of Britain.

Mr. Leo Frost, champion jockey, will be back in the saddle next Saturday.

It will be recalled that Soldier of Britain was a source of keen disappointment in the early part of the season, but recovered beautifully to win a great race later. It will again be piloted by Mr. H. C. Pih, and I think it has a good chance of winning this race. Royal Scot must be considered next, and, if ridden by Mr. Norman Deitz, it should offer a stern challenge to Mr. Li Shiu-pang's candidate.

Too Long For Oak Bay?

Oak Bay will have the benefit of the champion jockey, Mr. L. G. Frost, but I am inclined to think that it will find the extra furlong a difficult task to surmount. Should the Eve stable decide to send out Honey-moon Eve, the Derby winner, and if it is guided by Mr. W. H. S. Davis, I would recommend a bet each way, as the same connection unexpectedly won a race over the same distance during the first half.

Mr. Y. T. Fung will be riding again during the second half.

Whatever may be the outcome of this race, there is no doubt that it will be fought out at a fast rate, with the result in doubt right up to the finishing post.

Derby Day Stands Out

In the Corroboree Handicap, over five furlongs, for "A" Class Australian ponies, I doubt whether there is any pony amongst the entries capable of extending Derby Day. I believe that Mr. S. C. Liang will again be entrusted with the task of riding this pony, in which event I would nominate this combination to win, in spite of the fact that Strathroy will also be in the race. Strathroy is more suited to a longer distance.

Nothing much is known about Holiday Eve, but if it has fully recovered from the effects of its hard race in the Sydney Maidens at the Annual Meeting, it will have a chance. Vixen Tor has also entered, but unless it can get off to a good start, which I doubt, it will probably not be anywhere near the leaders at the finish.

Bear Claw Favoured

What should turn out to be a fine race is the Tweed Island Bay Handicap for "B" Class China ponies over one mile. With Mr. Frost on top, I strongly fancy Bear Claw to win, as this pony is exceptionally fit at the moment, and the distance is not too long.

King's Lead is another likely looking winner, and I think that Sadko will also be well supported in the betting. If properly handled in the jockey department, King's Justice and Cyclamen Bay, two previously demoted ponies from "A" Class, should be capable of fighting it out at the finish.

In the Vaucluse Handicap, over five furlongs for "B" Class Australian ponies, it will be very difficult to nominate the likely winner with any degree of certainty. Centre Court, Honey, Night Star, Racing Heart, Ranger, Violet Queen and Zodiac are all capable of winning. The most important factor will be the start. Zodiac has evidently fully recovered from its recent slight lameness, and if it does not win at this meeting, I recommend keeping it in mind for future meetings, as this pony was regarded as one of the best among this year's lot of Australians. I fancy Racing Heart to win, with Centre Court second and Violet Queen third.

POLICE TRAINING SCHOOL

METHODS OF DEALING WITH RECRUITS

INSPECTOR-GENERAL INTERVIEWED

In an interview with the Sunday Herald, the Hon. Mr. T. H. King denied most emphatically that it was a part of a Police recruit's training that he should have to bring in a certain number of cases each week. Mr. King added, however, that if after an officer had been out on beat duty for about six months and still did not have a single case to his credit, then it was obvious that there was some slacking somewhere.

So far as gas training was concerned, Mr. King said that it was not included in the curriculum of the Police Training School, adding that he thought it would be much more useful to give instruction to members of the Force who had already passed the recruit stage. There were only a very limited number of gas-masks available now, but there were more on order from Home, and classes were going on all the time to instruct the members of the Police Force and also the Fire Brigade in the handling and use of the gas-masks.

Asked why the gas-masks were the course that each one of them not ordered locally, Mr. King said he is obliged to take before he is that he was not aware that gas-masks were made here, adding that each newly manufactured mask was subjected to the severest tests. Further, the conditions governing the storage of the masks were also very rigid.

Police Training Returning to the question of Police recruits, those from Home and those signed on either from India or locally, it was stated that the course that each one of them is obliged to take before he is passed out as a full-fledged policeman, is very comprehensive. In addition to teaching regulations and ordinances, one of the principal objects is to impress upon the recruits the value of observation. Then there are practical demonstrations, when crimes are staged and the whole process of investigation and Police Court procedure is gone through. (Continued in Next Column)

The first part of the training of a European recruit covers a period of seven months, and during this time he is stationed at the Police Training School. He is taught Police Regulations, ordinances and code (Criminal Law), traffic regulations and control, local knowledge (Hong Kong and Kowloon), composition and drafting reports, handling of arms, revolver firing, taking finger prints, Lewis gunnery, Thompson gunnery and defence.

Posted to Station After his course in the school, provided he passes all the tests, the recruit is posted to a Divisional Station where the second part of his training, learning street patrol and Charge Room duty, begins. Three months of this follows, after which he is examined by a Board consisting of a Superintendent, a Divisional Inspector and the Principal of the Training School.

Indian and Chinese recruits spend six months in the School, after which they are sent to the Central Police Station or one of the Upper Levels Stations for the period of one month. Hakka recruits are enlisted in groups of not less than 10 men and formed into a special class, remaining in the School for seven months. They are obliged to pass their Punli dialect examination before they are allowed to start the second part of their training.

The physical part of the training, too, is just as rigidly carried out, and the men are obliged to do their "daily dozen" in addition to attending classes. Inspector F. W. Shattain is in charge of the Police Training School, ably assisted by Inspector L. Taylor.

ARAB HOSTILITIES
FRESH ATTACKS MARK
JEWISH NEW YEAR

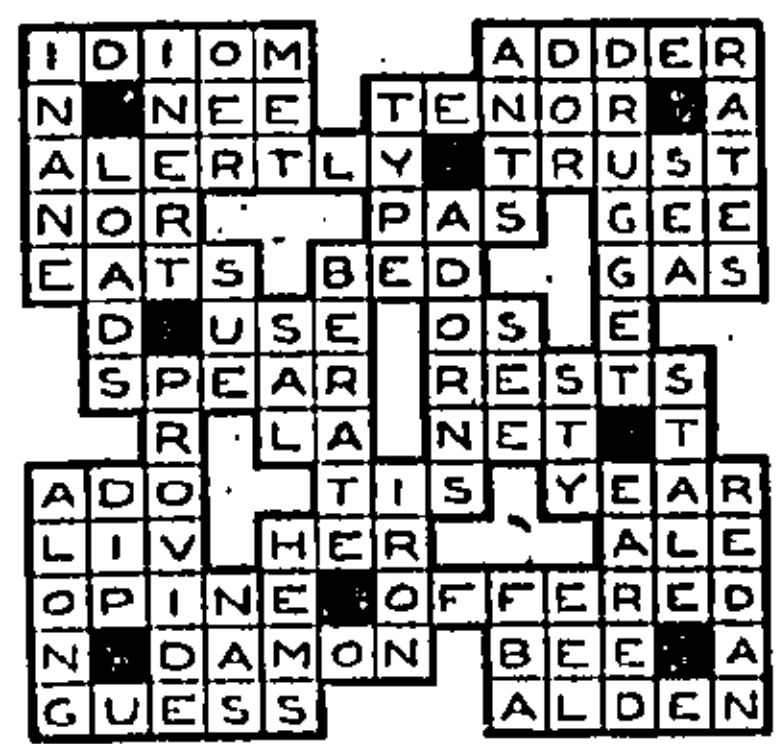

Jerusalem, Yesterday.—The Jewish New Year was marked by a recrudescence of Arab hostilities. Attacks were made on Thursday night in at least nine Jewish centres. Four separate onslaughts were made on an orange-growing colony, where the watchmen defending it had exhausted their ammunition. The police, however, arrived just in time.

Incendiaries gutted a Jewish flour-mill near Samakh, the damage being estimated at £5,000. The Iraq pipe-line was again damaged near Afulah. London: It is understood that a meeting of Ministers at No. 10, Downing Street, yesterday morning received reports from the High Commissioner in Palestine. It is learned that the Government intend to delay putting martial law into operation until they see how the situation develops. It is hoped that the influence of the more moderate Arabs will have a steadying effect, but there is no doubt that, failing a very definite change in the situation, martial law will be proclaimed.—Reuters' Bulletin Service.

"SUNDAY HERALD" SPECIAL
Paris, Yesterday.
Following the signature of the agreement between employers and the workers in the textile industry, all the factories in Lille occupied by the workers were evacuated yesterday afternoon. The workers carrying out the "stay-in" strike in the Vosges also vacated their factories.
A message from St. Didot reports that a strike has broken out here, the factories also being occupied by the workers, which now affects 10,000 workers.—Trans-Ocean Service.

ROAD ACCIDENTS IN BRITAIN

London, Yesterday.—The committee on the unification of road accident statistics held its first session yesterday, at which it emphasized the importance of the statistics being as complete and uniform as possible. They should mention all accidents occurring on roads open to the public. Any accident involving death or serious injury should be compulsorily notified.—British Wireless Service.

FOOD "WASHED" WITH PURE AIR

Constantly Circulating

in the Modern
Air Conditioned
Refrigerator

Certain stored foods pass off impurities, unpleasant in odor, which are quickly absorbed by other foods. Thus food, to remain impurity-free and to prevent decay, must be kept in air that is constantly purified as well as chilled. Cold alone is not enough!

The new OLYMPIC ICE Refrigerator, utilizing SIX-SIDED REFRIGERATION, keeps vitalized fresh air constantly circulating around your food. It "picks up" odors and impurities, carries them to the melting ice film, where they are absorbed and eliminated through the drain pipe. Food odors cannot interchange!

Too, the new OLYMPIC Air Conditioned Refrigerator maintains the correct balance of moisture in the air, preventing foods from drying out. Foods retain their natural flavors, juices and vitamins.

Our Ice Service Man will gladly demonstrate the new OLYMPIC Refrigerator.

Take SANATOGEN—then you will not feel so "nervy"

Weak nerves are starved which usually becomes worse unless yet, but a condition something is done.

The nerves must be fed, and that is exactly what SANATOGEN does

Sanatogen feeds the nerves and thus strengthens them in a perfectly natural way.

Give your nerves Sanatogen and that tired "nervy" feeling will disappear entirely. That listlessness, those sleepless nights and lack of appetite—all symptoms of weakened nerves—will soon be forgotten. You will feel healthy again and ten years younger. Fresh red blood will flow through your veins, putting rosinness into your cheeks and bringing a sparkle into your eyes.

Think of it: over 25,000 physicians have testified in writing to the remarkable results obtained with Sanatogen. Follow their advice and get a package from your chemist to-day.

Mrs. Weymouth and Mr. Lewis are here seen watching a friendly game at the Polo Club. ("Herald" photo).

BIRTHDAY honours this week go to two members of the lawn bowls fraternity. Mr. R. F. da Luz, the Craignower Cricket Club skip, and Mr. Adam Marshall, of the Kowloon Dockers, have their anniversaries today.

The many friends of Mr. Leo Frost will regret to learn that he will be leaving the Colony on transfer, soon after Christmas. Mrs. Frost states that "everything is still up in the air yet" and that he does not know where his transfer will take him.

Two well-known local residents, Mr. D. L. Prophet, of Messrs. Linstead and Davis, and Mr. A. W. da Roza, the bullion broker, celebrated their birthdays last Tuesday.

Mr. C. Mycock, who was formerly Headmaster of the Yau-mat English School, is due to return to the Colony towards the end of the month. He had been away in England, on leave, for the past nine months.

PERSONALIA

THE senior Chinese member on the Legislative Council, the Hon. Dr. S. W. T'ao, is expected to go away for a holiday after the Budget Debate on the Council. Dr. T'ao is one of the principals of the legal firm of Messrs T'ao and Hodgson and his departure will coincide with the return from Japan of Mr. P. M. Hodgson.

Mr. H. J. Armstrong, of the legal firm of Messrs. Deacons, is due to go away on leave in the near future. It is understood, however, that he will not leave the Colony until Mr. M. H. Turner, another member of the firm, returns to the Colony from his holiday in England.

Mr. Stan Hill, our celebrated cartoonist, accompanied by Mrs. Hill, left for a short holiday in Japan last Friday.

The many friends in the Colony of Mr. W. H. Edmonds, formerly of the Public Works Department here, will be glad to hear that he is keeping very fit and well. He recently went on a motor tour of England, in the course of which he visited Mrs. Wattle, wife of Mr. J. Wattle of the Colonial Secretariat, at Scarborough, and Miss Muriel Gelling, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Gelling, at Barrow-in-Furness.

Mr. H. C. Macnamara, the well-known local barrister who is spending a holiday in England, is having a very nice time according to news received in the Colony by some of his friends. It is not yet known when he will return, though it has been rumoured that he will have him back here with us towards the end of the year.

Mr. J. K. R. MacGregor, of the firm of Messrs. Caldwell and MacGregor, has gone to Manila for a holiday. He has been away for about two weeks now and we learn that he will be back in the Colony by the end of the month.

One of the most popular members of the Education Department, Mr. W. Lucas Handyside, who had been on Home leave for the past year or so, will be returning to the Colony towards the end of the year. He should, ordinarily, have returned here before now, but he secured an extension of his leave for a post-graduate course.

Mr. Kan Tong-po, the manager of the Bank of East Asia, has had a particularly busy time during the last few weeks, visiting the different branches of his Bank. He was away from the Colony for a few days during last week, but has since returned here.

Mrs. C. G. Herdman, Mrs. G. P. Redondo and Miss Luz Bernal are three visitors from Manila who are thoroughly enjoying their vacation in Hong Kong. They are staying at the Gloucester Hotel and make a trip out to Repulse Bay almost every evening. The party will return to the Philippines in the course of the next few days.

Mr. W. H. G. Hirst, clerk to the Chief Justice in the Supreme Court, has returned to the Colony again after spending a short holiday in Japan. While there he visited many places of interest and had a very enjoyable time.

Mr. H. F. Westlake jr., who was acting clerk to the Chief Justice during the absence on leave of Mr. Hirst, has now returned to his own post in another Department of the Court.

A charming camera study of Mrs. Alma Lee, who has just arrived in the Colony from Panama. (King's Studio).

Many local residents spent last week-end at Cheung Chau and every one of them appear to have had a really good time. Miss Gladys Allen, who has only just returned to the Colony from a holiday in England and on the Continent, was there, together with her brother and Veronica. They stayed at the popular "Sunnyside" which was full of visitors from Hong Kong.

Mr. J. C. Williams, assistant general manager of the Texas Company (China) Ltd., has gone away to the coastal ports on a business trip. He left last week, and it is learned that he will be back in town in a few days' time.

Mr. and Mrs. George Duncan, who left the Colony on their honeymoon by the s.s. Scharnhorst, will be back in the Colony again very shortly. They have been holidaying in England and, from all accounts, appear to have had an excellent time.

A large number of local residents are booked to leave for Home by the s.s. Scharnhorst, which sails on the 25th. Inst. Amongst them are Mr. and Mrs. "Lottie" Goldman, Mrs. D. W. Perasse, wife of Capt. D. W. Perasse, R. A., the Interport cricketer, and Mr. and Mrs. David C. Wilson.

Mr. H. R. Butters, the Postmaster-General, together with Mrs. Butters, will be leaving the Colony towards the end of December for a year's holiday at Home. Mr. Butters states, however, that they have not yet decided whether they will spend their holiday in London or in Scotland.

CAPT. J. Lossius, the Grand Old Man of Cheung Chau, celebrated his birthday last Thursday, when nearly all the residents on the Island called on him to offer their congratulations. Mr. H. J. Pearce had his anniversary on the same day, while Mr. A. C. Rosario of the National City Bank of New York had a party on the day before to mark his birthday.

Mr. William Staley, of the National City Bank of New York will, it is understood, be leaving the Colony on transfer in the very near future. He will probably be going to the Peking branch of the Bank.

Mr. Fred J. Brown of the Canadian Pacific Railway Company celebrated his birthday anniversary last Thursday and was heartily congratulated by his colleagues and many friends.

Mrs. D. C. Wilson, seen here with her three bonny children, Angus, Dene and Heather Joy, is leaving for Home next Friday by the s.s. Scharnhorst, accompanied by Mr. Wilson.

Mrs. Beryl Lee, a new arrival here, has taken up residence near the Race Course, Happy Valley. (King's Studio).

Mrs. R. T. O. Lammert, who had been for some time with Messrs. Brewer's Bookshop, left for Singapore during the week. She is going to join her husband who has taken up a business appointment in Singapore. A small farewell party was held in Rut-ton Building last Tuesday.

Dr. D. J. Valentine, the Assistant Director of Medical and Sanitary Services, together with Mrs. Valentine, has taken a trip "down south." They have been away for about a couple of weeks and will not be back till early next month.

Mrs. H. L. Lockhart's residence at Kowloon Tong was the scene of a happy little party on September 2, after which the above photograph was taken. The other ladies in the picture are Mrs. H. E. Bades, Mrs. P. D. Crawley, Mrs. A. T. Sabey, Mrs. A. D. Spoons and Mrs. Kenneth Andrew.

The Polo Club, Boundary Street, is a very popular rendezvous in the evening. The above picture shows Mr. J. J. Palmer, Mrs. Bathurst and Mr. G. F. Ross having a chat as they watch a friendly game being played. ("Herald" photo).

Mrs. P. W. Grant Cameron, who has been spending a holiday in Manila with some friends, writes that she is having a very enjoyable time. We hear that she will be returning to the Colony towards the end of this month.

CAPT. L. J. Walch, R.A.S.C., who is one of the most popular Army sportsmen in the Colony, is due to go Home during the coming trooping season. Mrs. and Miss Walch will be proceeding to England with him, and it is possible that he may spend a short holiday in England before being posted to another station.

The many friends in the Colony of Miss Ethel Mudd, who was formerly a teacher in the Garrison here, will be glad to learn that there is a distinct possibility of her returning to the Colony in the very near future. In a letter to a friend recently she stated that she might be embarking from England early in September.

Dr. G. V. Griffiths, medical officer in charge of the Kowloon Hospital, had to be away from his work last week due to an injury to his eye. He has, however, since recovered sufficiently to resume his duties.

LITTLE NOTES of Great Importance

Tired of thinking out new cakes, tarts or puddings? Here is something that will put new pep into your meals. EMA brand fruit butters, an improvement on jams. Prepared under a special process which assures the rich individual flavour of fresh fruits, they are packed in attractive glass jars and so are free from "metal flavour." A big range to suit every taste. Also Jellies, Jams and Marmalades. And free prizes with each jar. Obtainable at all leading compradores and provisioners.

responsibility which rests on them. Their stock is always fresh and complete, and prices are not higher than what you would pay for inferior medicines.

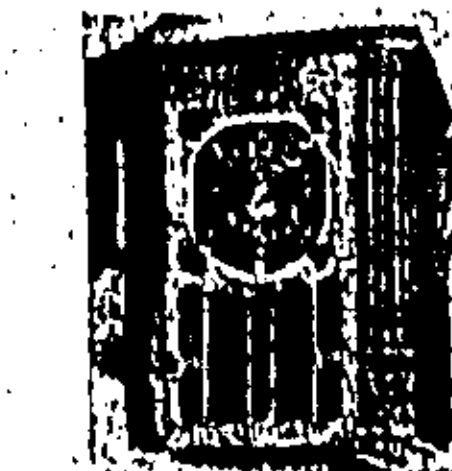

You'll be hearing a lot about Autumn fashions just now... the formulas for being terribly smart and awfully new. But why not visit DOLLY VARDEN'S and get it all first hand? There is nothing that is smart and new that you won't see there: models, coats, suits, furs, hats... There was one model that made me catch my breath: a soft black crepe tunic trimmed with little beaded flowers in colour.

And another: a Russian Cossack frock, braided in black and red—a beauty! They've even a new selection of artificial flowers. The violets!

How are you doing for summer?... Able to cavort gaily on the beach... or do you have to worry about sunburn and such? Shame on you if you do... but cheer up. As long as you can get NOXZEMA in town you need not worry. Go and get NOXZEMA right away and enjoy the summer. And once you have bought it you will always want to have it around the house—it has so many uses. It is a real family friend. It helps your baby's chafing and rash, burns and bruises, aching and tired feet... All leading Dispensaries sell it. Sole Distributors: United Traders, Pedder Building.

"Thinking" about buying a radio? You will do more than "think" when you see the amazing Zenith 1937 models at the INTERNATIONAL RADIO SALES AND SERVICE, 27 Hankow Road, Kowloon. There is new beauty, new performance, new features never before built into any radio. And you can have an AC-DC set with built-in antenna, a set which you can use on any current, on board ship, on trains etc. To be quite explicit: no matter where you are you need never miss the pleasures of a Zenith radio. Go and see them: you will find a revelation!

LITTLE NOTES of Great Importance

Now Culbertson brings out his complete Contract Bridge—The Gold Book of Bidding and Play—you have been waiting for it; you will find it, of course, at BREWER'S BOOKSHOP, the one bookshop in town sure to have the newest and the best. Their novel for the week is Hugh Walpole's latest: "A Prayer for my Son." Here is Mr. Walpole's customary mingling of beauty and terror. And a reminder: BREWER'S have "Inside Europe," that sensational story of the great personalities in Europe by John Gunther.

PAUL RENNET'S are unwrapping and hanging up some of the most stunning of all Autumn fashions yet to arrive in Hong Kong. I stepped into their "blue room" this week—it really was that: all the dresses on show were the loveliest royal blue. Blue, by the way, is the colour of the moment. But there were others too... tunic dresses... new, deep colours and styles and sizes for Miss and Matron. PAUL RENNET'S seem to have an "in" all their own to get these grand things so soon. No wonder, that it is the shop for discriminating women!

Worms are no joke... Especially when they thrive in your children... Even the most ardent fisherman couldn't be enthusiastic about it. So, when you notice symptoms such as pains and uneasiness in the bowels and stomach; indigestion, nausea, feverishness, grinding of the teeth, itching in the nose—it is time to get WATSON'S WORM BONBONS, which not only eliminate worms but also exercise a tonic effect. They are made in an attractive sweet form and children love them. They only cost 8 cents each.

I wish I knew which horse to put my money on next week... but I can have a sure bet on the frocks. LANE, CRAWFORD'S dresses are always first in the dress parade. You can't miss them. Small wonder... your pick for these races are floral silks with neat tunic coats in one colour to fit over them—ever so light and smart. Or if it's as hot as ever there are the coolest of floral gorgettes. I shall be sitting on the grand-stand and counting them... one—two—three... all the knock-outs from LANE, CRAWFORD'S.

High and mighty... is the way the newest hats are getting. But not MAIZEE'S, our American Shop, in spite of their wonderful Autumn shipment. You'll find every "best seller" in their selection. There are sky-pointing feathers, crevassed crowns, crowns that shoot out in front, some twisting up the side or sliding from a high back down to nothing over the nose. As to frocks, there are street frocks in every eccentric form—or the very simplest, all having MAIZEE'S customary smartness. New winter coats are in too. And, by the way, you can't put a new hat on an old head—so get yourself some Helena Rubinstein beauty preparations.

"Y" SWIMMING GALA

Six Championships At Stake

DINNER-DANCE AND PRIZE DISTRIBUTION

The European Y.M.C.A. Swimming Section will conclude their summer swimming season next Wednesday evening with their last gala, in which six championship events will be featured.

Owing to lack of time, the 220 Yards free-style championship will probably be swum off next Tuesday evening in the "Y" pool, commencing at 6 p.m. sharp. Entries for this event should be sent to the Hon. Secretary of the Swimming Section, Mr. R. Goldman, not later than 8 p.m. to-morrow evening.

The Men's 100 Yards free-style, next Wednesday evening, is likely to produce a very close race between H. Lange, the holder, and F. J. Anslow, who has made great strides in his swimming this season. R. Goldman and H. Millington will vie for third place, with the odds favouring the latter.

Very Good Race

The Junior 100 Yards free-style will also be a very good race and the result will probably rest between Keown, Arnold and Booker, with E. Fowler and J. Lephurd as two good outside chances.

Frank Read will make his first appearance in the 50 Yards breast-stroke championship, in which he will be opposed to Anslow, the probable winner, Lephurd and R. Goldman.

The 50 Yards back-stroke championship is also likely to produce a good race as the best of the juniors will meet the seniors and, although there are two sections, some of the former section are the equal of their seniors. The race, however, should revolve round Lange, Anslow, Millington and Booker.

Disappointing Feature

The Diving championship will probably be won by E. Fowler, with Goldman and Millin as runners-up. The one disappointing feature of the programme to date is the lack of entries for the Ladies' 50 Yards free-style championship.

An outstanding event at the gala will be the 200 Yards free-style relay between the representative Army team, which came fourth in the Colony championship, and the Y.M.C.A. "A" team, who were beaten into fifth place. The gala, which commences at 6.30 p.m. in the evening, will be followed by a dinner-dance and prize distribution.

The following are the probable entries:—

Men's 100 Yards free-style championship:—

H. Millington, H. G. Lange, F. J. Anslow and R. Goldman.

Junior 100 Yards free-style Championship:—

A. Keown, N. Booker, E. Fowler, G. Arnold and J. Lephurd.

Men's 50 Yards breast-stroke championship:—

F. J. Anslow, R. Goldman, F. V. Read and J. Lephurd.

Men's 50 Yards back-stroke championship:—

H. G. Lange, H. Millington, F. J. Anslow, N. Booker and F. V. Read.

Men's Diving Championship:—

J. Millin, E. Fowler, R. Goldman, A. Keown and H. Millington.

Novices' 50 Yards free-style handicap:—

J. Sanders and C. Fuxman.

Men's 50 Yards Aggregate Handicap:—

(Post entries).

200 Yards Relay ("Y" v. Army):—

Y.M.C.A.: H. G. Lange, A. Keown, R. Goldman and F. J. Anslow.

Army: Lieut. A. J. Lewis, Lieut. R. A. Barron, Rfm. Hamilton and Cpl. McCarthy.

Ladies' 50 Yards free-style championship:—

(No entries received to date).

Ladies' 25 Yards Novices' scratch:—

(Post entries).

Ladies' 50 Yards Aggregate handicap:—

(Post entries).

There are still a few very old fashioned people who believe that radio is a luxury. Well, it isn't.

Nowadays you can get low-priced sets which give you a fine performance. And when you are in possession of a radio set, no matter where you are, you are never isolated.

The whole world is at your finger tip! Become radio-minded and visit the Victoria Radio Shoppe opposite the Star Theatre, Kowloon, where you can see the latest models of Zenith, Pilot, Philco, R.C.A., Victor, Emerson and Kaitite all-wave sets. You will find your visit worth while.

ARGONAUTAS BEAT "Y"

F. NOLASCO OUTSTANDING PLAYER ON VIEW

A very fast hockey encounter was witnessed on the Y.M.C.A. ground at King's Park yesterday when the Argonauts beat "Y" 4 goals to 1 after leading by two clear goals at the interval.

The Portuguese team were much too fast for their opponents, whose spilling tactics, however, compensated for their lack of finesse in other departments of the game.

ARMY CHILDREN'S AQUATIC SPORTS

HEATS AT V.R.C. TO-MORROW

COMPLETE ENTRY LIST

The annual Army Children's swimming sports will commence to-morrow afternoon at 2.30 p.m. with heats in the Victoria Recreation Club swimming pool, and the finals will be held on Friday, September 25, commencing at 3 p.m., admission on the latter day being by invitation.

The sports are being held under the patronage of His Excellency Major-General A. W. Bartholomew, C.B., C.M.G., C.B.E., D.S.O., and Mrs. Bartholomew will distribute the prizes at the conclusion of the gala.

Competition is very keen between the Hong Kong and Kowloon Schools for the various trophies, particularly the Championship Flag, presented for annual competition some time ago by Major-General J. W. Sandilands, C.B., C.M.G., D.S.O.

An Innovation

An innovation this year is the introduction of an Inter-Schools Challenge Cup, open to all Schools in the Colony, each School entering, to furnish one representative who shall be under the age of 14 years (British reckoning) on September 25.

The Challenge Cup itself was presented by Mrs. A. W. Bartholomew, and will be held by the winning School for one year. The event, the first of its kind in recent years, should prove very popular.

The following is the complete programme:—

50 yards Championship:—(Boys under 11 years), 50 yards Championship:—(Girls under 11 years), 100 yards Championship:—(Boys 11 years and over), 100 yards Championship:—(Girls 11 years and over).

High Dive, (14 feet); 3 dives:—(Boys), High Dive, (14 feet); 3 dives:—(Girls), 25 yards back-stroke:—(Boys and Girls), 25 yards Novices, free-style:—(Boys 9 years & over), 25 yards Novices, free-style:—(Girls 9 years & over), 100 yards free-style:—(Boys and Girls 14 years & over who left Army Schools in July 1936), Diving Display (Friday only), 100 yards free-style:—(Colony Inter-Schools Cup—One entry per School), Long Plunge (2 plunges):—(Girls and Boys), 25 yards Novices, free-style:—(Boys under 9 years), 25 yards Novices, free-style:—(Girls under 9 years), Relay Race free-style:—Hong Kong v. Kowloon (Girls & Boys under 11 years of age—6 per team, each to swim 25 yards) on Friday only, Relay Race free-style:—Hong Kong v. Kowloon:—(Girls & Boys 11 years of age & over—6 per team, each to swim 25 yards) on Thursday only.

Cup Entries

The following are the entries for the Inter-Schools Challenge Cup presented by Mrs. A. W. Bartholomew for annual competition:—Geraldine Silva (Maryknoll Convent School), Ma Cheung-chui (St. Stephen's Girls' College), John Mackie (Quarry Bay), David Morris (C.B.S.), Vivian Churn (Diocesan Girls' School), Alleen Thirwell (Anglo-French School), Leung Cho-fat (Junior Technical School), Dennis Manders (Army E. C. School, Hong Kong), Alexina Archer (Army E. C. School, Kowloon).

CLUB WIN KOWLOON CHINESE DEFEATED PENALTY DECIDES ISSUE FLEMING IMPRESSES

The brilliant goal-keeping of Wong Cheong for the Chinese in the second half and the poor shooting of the Club forwards in the first period of the game prevented the Hong Kong Football Club from beating the Kowloon Chinese Football Club, who were making their debut appearance, by a much larger margin in their friendly football game on the Club ground yesterday. They won by an only goal, scored through a penalty!

The opposition offered by the Chinese was not equal to that of the East Lanes, last week, and this may have resulted in the Club not giving the same brilliant display they gave last Saturday.

Fowler was a notable absentee from the Club team, and he was greatly missed. His place was filled by Hill, in the first half, and later by Haynes, but both of these players were not of much assistance to the other forwards.

Halves Improve

Wilson, at inside-left, and Forrow, at centre-half, were outstanding for the Club, while E. Strange and J. Skinner gave greatly improved displays as wing halves. The former, who was very fast in his tackling and whose "feeding" was much better than last week, had Tang Kwong-sum in subjection for the greater part of the game.

Skinner played one of his best games and with the aid of Nicholls had the Wah Ting and Lau Ching-wah combination well in hand.

Fleming, a new player, who played at inside-right in the first half, was good, and with a fast winger will be a definite asset to the Club.

Unimpressive

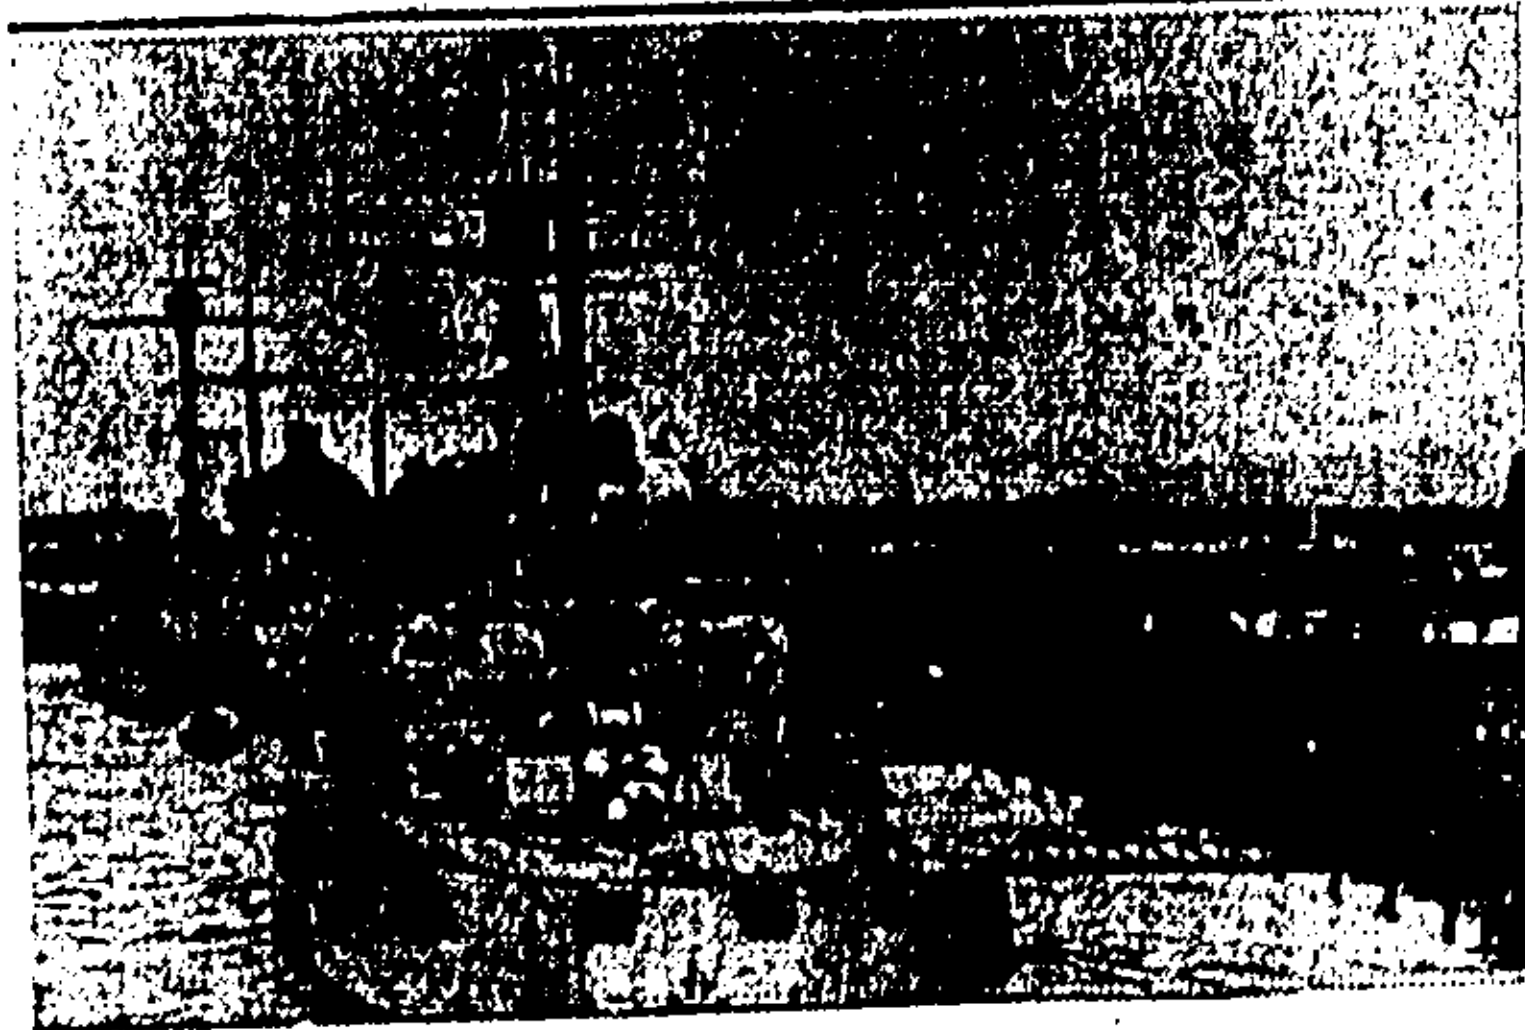

The Chinese, as a team, did not impress at all. Apart from Wong Cheong, in goal, and Lai Kwok-chui, at centre-half, the other players did not display good form. The forwards were good in their passing, at times, but were very timid and poor in their shooting, so that with but three exceptions, Roger, in goal, was never seriously troubled.

Tam Kwong-sum and Yeung Kan-po, formerly live wires of the Chinese Athletic team, were completely subdued by E. Strange, while Au Ping-ming could never get the better of Forrow in the centre.

The Club scored their only goal from a penalty converted by Elliot.

Kowloon Chinese:—Wong Cheong; Wong Wing-hon and Kwok Ping-cheung; Chau Man-chi, Lai Kwok-chui and Lai Fai; Tang Kwong-sum, Yeung Kan-po, Au Ping-ming, Wai Ting and Lau Ching-wah.

Club:—Rodger; S. Strange and Nicholls; J. Skinner, Forrow and E. Strange; Hill, Fleming, Elliot, Wilson and Bickford.

Under orders to use force to prevent a recurrence of the "Kamerun incident," in which Spanish loyalists searched the German vessel Kamerun, Nazi warships, of the type shown above, steamed into Spanish waters last month.

MISUNDERSTANDINGS! BUT FUSILIERS' JUNIOR TEAM EXTEND ST. JOSEPH'S

TWO misunderstandings arose out of the friendly football game between St. Joseph's and the Royal Welch Fusiliers yesterday, the first being when both teams arrived at Sookun-noo to find the ground was not prepared, and the second when the Fusiliers sent a junior team instead of their first team.

Both teams, nevertheless, journeyed over to Hanny Valley and played the game on the Military ground, where, after an interesting match, the Saints won by three clear goals.

There was no doubt that the Saints were the better team, but the Fusiliers, who were mostly Third Division players, gave a grand display, which augurs well for their chances of winning the championship this season.

Manship, in the Fusilier goal, played a brilliant game, while Morgan and Williams were a good pair of backs, the latter having a gruelling afternoon against Castilho and Ward.

The intermediate line played well but were too busy to find time to assist their forwards to any great extent.

Vale, at centre-half, shadowed Leonard throughout the game, while Taylor was kept moving by Ward and Castilho, from which combination the majority of the Saints' raids originated.

Luxton, on the left-wing, sent over good centres after evading Elms on several occasions; but Grevelt found Costa's height a great obstacle. Tatler had hard luck twice, while Lordner and Roberts were also good on the other wing.

The game did St. Joseph's one good turn. It enabled Ward and Castilho to establish an understanding. Their short passes were delightful to watch, though overdone at times. Leonard did not play his usual bustling game, but distributed the ball oftener than usual.

Ward opened the scoring for the Saints in the first half with a feeble shot from near in, while Leonard scored in the first minute of the second half from a well placed pass by Ward and once more before the final whistle.

Fusiliers:—Manship; Morgan and Williams; Collins, Vale and Taylor; Luxton, Grevelt, Tatler, Lordner and Roberts.

St. Joseph's:—Rumjahn; Costa and Souza; Omar, Hussain and Elms; Castilho, Ward, Leonard, Sprinkle and Fernandes.

KOWLOON BEAT RECREIO

Losers Field Several Junior Players

BLISS AND J. GOMES OUTSTANDING

A very poor friendly football match was played on the Kowloon Football Club ground yesterday evening, when the home team beat an experimental Club de Recreio side, comprised mostly of juniors, by 3 goals to 1.

The play was very slap-dash and very few fine open movements were witnessed, although several players shone individually, foremost among these being D. Knox, the Kowloon leader.

Bliss worked hard in Kowloon's intermediate line, but missed "Paddy" Boyd, Roberts and Mills, on his right and left flanks, being very erratic in their distribution. The Kowloon forwards were a real problem. Eastman was rarely in position to take a pass on the right-wing, and consequently was out of the picture, while Turpin, a newcomer and a bustling type of player, met with tough opposition in the tricky, Portuguese defenders.

D. Knox was the only live forward, but lack of support on his flanks rendered his task most difficult.

Honorable Of Form

V. White, on his left, was right off form, while Honniball, who made his first appearance this season, was also not at his best, although he improved in the latter stages of the game.

Recreio were singularly unfortunate in that the majority of their senior players were away, and as a result they had to turn out several juniors.

The Gosano brothers, "A. V." and "Bertie", were conspicuous by their absence, but it is understood that they will probably turn out if wanted.

J. Gomes, in the pivotal position, was the outstanding Portuguese player. Demee, who usually plays in the half-back line, played in goal and gave a promising display, while A. Gonsalves, on the left-wing, although much too light, also centred well and gave his opponents an object lesson in ball control while on the run.

Kowloon Score

Kowloon netted their first goal when V. White crashed home a powerful shot which glanced off V. Ribeiro's foot past the unsuspecting Demee.

Soon after a melee in front of goal saw D. Knox score Kowloon's second with a rasping drive which found the top right corner of the net. Just before the interval the Portuguese team surprised their hosts when A. Guterres scored their only point with a high shot which Minhnnett misjudged.

The home team were only able to add one more goal in the second half, through D. Knox, during which play was very ragged.

Mr. D. Kossick refereed and the teams were:—

Kowloon:—Minhnnett; Everest and Boven; Roberts, Bliss and Mills; Eastman, Turpin, D. Knox, V. White and Honniball.

Recreio:—Demee; C. Marques and V. Marques; V. Ribeiro, J. Gomes and R. Maxwell; D. Aquino, A. Guterres, H. Campos, J. Pereira and A. Gonsalves.

KOWLOON BEAT EAST LANCS.

Ewart Gives Dazzling Display

A much improved display was given by the Kowloon junior soccer eleven yesterday afternoon at Chatham Road, where they beat a scratch team from the East Lancashire Regiment by two clear goals.

The winners were reinforced by G. White and W. Knox, two senior players, who performed very creditably in the attack and defence respectively.

The first half failed to produce a score, but A. Elms sent Kowloon ahead soon after the start of the second half with a good shot. Soon after Guterres cut in from the left-wing to smash the ball into the roof of the East Lanes' net after Ewart had sent across a perfect centre from the left wing.

Ewart, who used to play for the Royal Air Force on the left-wing, gave a dazzling display and if he can be persuaded to play for Kowloon, their biggest problem will be solved.

Local Share MarketMessrs. Harriman's Weekly Report

Messrs. G. A. Harriman & Co.'s weekly share report and market review, issued at noon yesterday states:—

It has been an exciting week of active trading in the Hong Kong share market. Local leaders have been supported throughout the week, with practically an all round improvement in quotations, and the market closes firm with buyers still unsatisfied.

The Manila mining market developed weakness on Tuesday and shares, over the next two days declined sharply in the heaviest set-back this section of the market has sustained, since it commenced its phenomenal upward movement in May last. Prices however rallied spectacularly at close and most stocks recovered the losses made during the previous three days. This shake-out, followed by the closing wave of buying is a healthy sign and augers well for a continuance of active trading. It also serves to show the inherent strength of the Manila market.

Hong Kong Utility stocks were carried to new highs for the second half of 1936, China Lights being very heavily dealt in, from $13.50 up to $16.75 cash buyers & $16.50 December, a rise of $2 1/2. Hong Kong Electric were taken, in quantity from $54.50 to $55 ex div. H.K. Trams again fluctuated considerably closing, however, quiet at around $12.25 buyers. There are buyers of Star Ferries at $94.50, Yaumati Ferries at $22 and Sandakan Lights at offer. Telephones are firmly supported, the old shares at $30.25 bid and the "new" wanted at $10.80. Wharves appreciated to $113 and Providents (old) were in continued demand up to $2.25. Docks were firmly enquired for at $14.

Hotels are active with sellers reluctant to part. At close there are cash buyers at $6.10 and good forward enquiries at a considerable premium over this rate, i.e. $6.35 November with no forward sellers. Lands are $40.50, Humphreys $9.50 and Dairies $22 buyers.

Unions continue to be taken at $580 and Banks at $1610.

Philippine Mining shares after considerable fluctuation close firm and buyers predominate. Suyocs, which were last week's outstanding feature of strength up to $1.40, suffered a relapse to $1.10, but recovered to a closing rate of $1.25 at which figure business was transacted. Demonstrations went down to $1.45, but large buying orders for this share brought them up to close $1.55 buyers. Baguio Gold declined to 60 cts. and Benguet Exploration to 45 cts. Big Wedge, exceptionally, have kept very steady at 82 cts. cash. Atoks slipped to $1.05 but close higher at $1.15. San Mauricio, Itocon, United Paracale and I.X.L. are all below last week's best, but close in good buying enquiry at the slightly reduced values.

In conclusion we report a very firm market for Hong Kong stocks, with the tendency upward and we also look for continued activity in the Manila market, which appears healthier for its recent shake-out.

LOCAL DOLLAR STEADYSilver Prices Firm

The local dollar is steady, opening on demand yesterday morning at 1/23d.

"Spot" silver was firm at 19/7/16, while "forward" also remained steady at 19/7/16.

The London on New York cross-rate was quoted at £-U.S.$5.06, as compared with £-U.S.$5.06 1/2, while the New York or London cross rate was quoted at £-U.S.$5.06-7/16, as compared with £-U.S.$5.06 1/2.

HUSSAIN BROTHERS HAVE UNBEATEN RECORD

"C" DIVISION TENNIS LEAGUE STATISTICS

KOWLOON TONG SHOW GREAT PROMISE

K.C.C. "A" COLLAPSE BADLY

(By The Sports Editor)

THE "C" Division of the Lawn Tennis League, which was brought to a conclusion last Thursday, proved to be very much more exciting than was expected after Recreio had beaten South China in their needle match, the Kowloon Indians carrying off the trophy as the result of a deserved win over Recreio in the deciding encounter.

Though Recreio would probably beat the K.I.T.C. seven times out of 10 the latter's win was a just reward for consistently good displays throughout the season. In the Hussain brothers they had a pair who could be depended on for three sets in every match— they, however, very nearly lost their unbeaten record when L. Silva and J. Xavier (Recreio) actually led them 5-2; a late rally and over-confidence on the part of their opponents, however, saved the day and they drew at 6-all.

The Chinese R.C., the holders, took no interest in this year's series from the point of view of securing another trophy and spent their time giving newcomers match experience and it is more than likely that this policy will bear fruit next year.

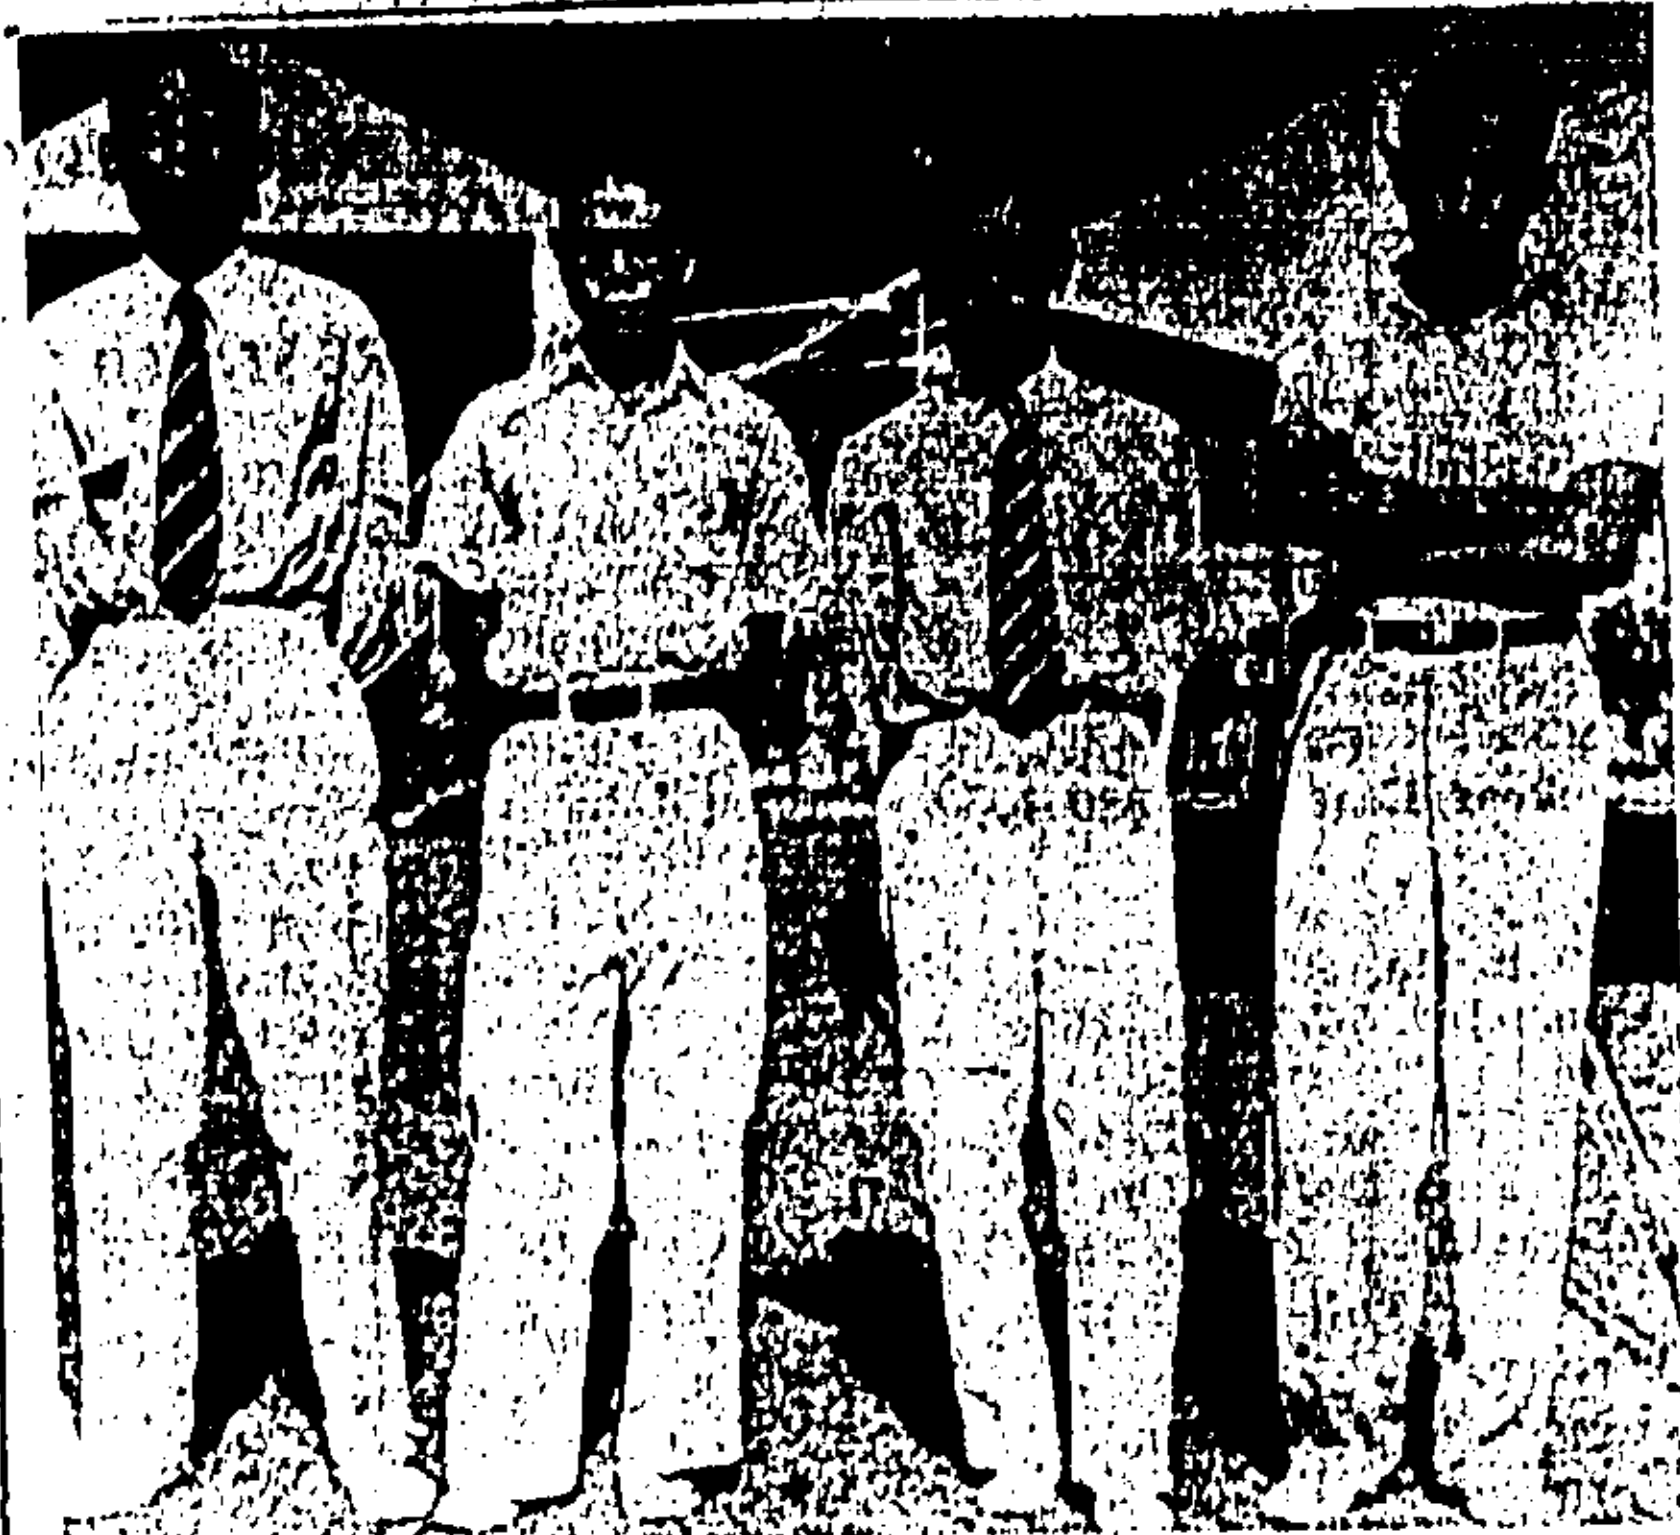

The most disappointing team in this division was undoubtedly K.C.C. "A," who, after starting the season with four successive wins, dropped 13 points in the course of their next seven matches to finish up on level terms with their "B" team!

Kowloon Tong Garden City Association, making their debut in the League, made a big impression—they held both the champions and runners-up to the odd set. H. and A. Chan are undoubtedly a coming pair—one defeat in 30 sets is a very commendable performance.

The twelve Clubs competing produced an aggregate partnership total of 154, made up as follows: K.I.T.C. 5; Army 5; Recreio 8; K.C.C. "B" 10; K.C.C. "A" 12; K.T.G.B.A. 14; C.S.C.C. 14; C.R.C. 16; University 16; I.R.C. 18; and S.C.A.A. 23.

The following is the complete "C" Division Tennis partnership record for 1936:

OUTSTANDING MATCHES

Only Three In Five Divisions

The following are the only unplayed matches in the five divisions:

Mixed Doubles

K.C.C. "A" v. C.R.C.

"A" Division

C.R.C. "A" v. S.C.A.A.

"B" Division

Recreio v. C.R.C. "B"

We are given to understand that the C.B.A. gave C.R.C. "B" a walk-over in the "B" Division and that the latter gave their "A" the two points.

The championships of all five divisions have already been decided as follows:

"A"—Chinese R.C. "A"

"B"—Chinese R.C. "A"

"C"—Kowloon Indians' T.C.

"D"—Craigengower C.C.

Mixed Doubles—Chinese R.C.

MAH-JONGG AT THE CHEERO CLUB

Mrs. S. Deacon Presents The Prizes

The Open Games Night at the Cheero Club last night took the form of a mah-jongg drive. Mrs. S. Deacon was in charge of the arrangements, while Mr. F. J. Todd made a very efficient M. C. The games started shortly after 9 p.m. and went on till about 11.15 p.m. when Mrs. Deacon presented the prizes, the winners being as follows:—

Ladies: Mrs. Morley, Mrs. Falconer; Consolation, Miss Morley. Gentlemen: Mr. E. Noble, Mr. J. Falconer; Consolation, Mr. J. Spokes.

C.C.C. WHIST DRIVE

The ladies' prizes at the fortnightly whist drive held at the Craigkewong Cricket Club last night were won by Mrs. W. Field, Mrs. Smith and Mrs. H. Tollervey, while the gentlemen's prizes were secured by Messrs. Stainsbury, Beynon and Fenner.

HOTEL CECIL DANCE

At the weekly dance of the Health and Strength League, held at the Hotel Cecil last night, Mrs. Stockford and Mr. Flood were the winners of the spot waltz, while Mrs. Hole and Mr. Linisay won the Statue Waltz competition.

GOVERNOR'S VISIT TO CANTON

"WONDERFULLY HAPPY" TWO-DAYS' VISIT

SIGHT-SEEING, ENTERTAINMENT AND CONVERSATIONS

"Two of the most wonderfully happy days of our lives" was the description given by His Excellency the Governor to Press representatives at Kowloon Railway Station on his return from his visit to Canton with Lady Caldecott yesterday morning.

Sir Andrew and Lady Caldecott had been in Canton since Thursday on an informal visit with the object of calling upon Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek and making the acquaintance of the local authorities.

The two days were spent in most interesting sight-seeing, entertainment and conversations, in the course of which the most friendly relationships were established and the foundations laid for many such pleasant interchanges in the future.

What impressed not only the visitors but the whole city was the wonderful organisation of all the arrangements, everything being done to make Sir Andrew and Lady Caldecott feel that they were the very special guests of Canton.

Everywhere they went there were Guards of Honour and their cars were preceded by an escort of the motorised section of the City Police, which ensured them clear passage through the busy thoroughfares. Extra police were on duty on all lines of the route.

ARRIVAL AT CANTON

The train on Thursday morning ran into a specially decorated railway station, a band was discoursing music at the point at which the Governor's coach drew up, and another band and Guard of Honour were outside the station.

The visitors were welcomed by H. M. Consul-General, Mr. Herbert Phillips, and his staff, and General Chien Ta-chun represented Marshal Chiang Kai-shek, Colonel Chiang represented the Chairman of the Provincial Government, Captain Leung represented General Yu Han-mow, and Colonel Li Fong represented the Mayor of Canton (Mr. Tseng Yang-fu). Other Chinese officials present included Dr. Philip Tyan, Special Delegate for Foreign Affairs, and Mr. Li Luk-chai, managing director of the Chinese Section of the Canton-Kowloon Railway.

Outside the station national anthems were played and not until the distinguished visitors had left was the train cleared of its passengers.

GREEN OASIS

Sir Andrew and Lady Caldecott (who were accompanied by the A.D.C., Captain W. J. R. Cragg) were the guests of H. M. Consul-General at Shumee, where they then proceeded. They were much charmed by this pleasant green oasis in the busy city.

In the late afternoon of Thursday Sir Andrew and Lady Caldecott motored to Whampoa to visit the Generalissimo and Madame Chiang Kai-shek, and stayed to dinner. This was served on the lawn by the river in a most delightful setting, for there happened to be a beautiful sunset against which junks and other river craft were silhouetted. As night fell, Chinese lanterns in the trees illuminated the scene.

EXCHANGE OF VIEWS

Conversation continued until late, made freely possible by Madame Chiang Kai-shek's familiarity with the English language. Although indisposed and ordered to leave for Kuling immediately for the sake of cooler conditions, Madame Chiang Kai-shek kindly helped Sir Andrew and the Generalissimo to exchange views freely on a great number of topics. The return journey to Shumee, which was made by launch, afforded the visitors another and a different view of Canton.

During the morning of Friday a tour of interesting places in the city and suburbs was made. At Chungshan University the Acting Dean and many professors extended hospitality. The site and buildings were greatly admired by the Governor.

A visit was also made to Yellow Flower Hill to view the Memorial in honour of the famous "72 Heroes," and here Sir Andrew Caldecott laid a beautiful wreath to their memory.

Coming back to the city, an inspection was made in turn of the Museum at the Five-Storeyed Pagoda, and the stone Memorial to Dr. Sun Yat-sen on the hill overlooking Canton and of the beautiful Memorial Hall, which was greatly admired. At 12.30 p.m. Sir Andrew, Mr. Herbert Phillips, H. M. Consul-General, Mr. W. F. S. Gibbs, H. M. Consul, Captain A. R. Halfhide, R.S., and Captain W. J. Cragg, A.D.C., proceeded to the Municipal Administration Building to lunch with General Huang Mu-sung, Chairman of the Provincial Government, General Yu Han-mow, Pacification Commissioner, and Mr. Tseng Yang-fu, the Mayor of Canton. The latter, being unfortunately ill, was represented by Colonel Li Fong. Here a Guard of Honour and a band was also provided.

FORMAL DINNER

At 8 p.m. on Friday an informal dinner was given by Mr. Herbert Phillips in honour of His Excellency the Generalissimo and Sir Andrew and Lady Caldecott. This was the first time that the Generalissimo had visited Shumee. A party of 18 included the Chairman of the Provincial Government, General Huang Mu-sung, and General Yu Han-mow, Pacification Commissioner, Colonel Li Fong (deputising for the Mayor), Dr. Wang Chung-hui, General Chien Ta-chun, Mr. T. L. Sung, members of the Consulate staff and other officials. Madame Chiang was unable to attend as she had left by air for Kuling that morning.

A Guard of Honour of Indian police was drawn up at the Pier on the arrival of the Generalissimo. At the Consulate-General a naval Guard from H.M.S. Tarantula was mounted.

After a most successful informal visit Sir Andrew and Lady Caldecott returned to Hong Kong by the 8.15 a.m. train yesterday.

On arriving in Hong Kong yesterday morning H.E. the Governor and Lady Caldecott were met by Press representatives and stayed for a few moments to inspect a railway coach which has been converted into an observation car, charmingly furnished. Mr. R. D. Walker, manager of the Kowloon Section, and Mr. J. Smith, mechanical engineer, showed the visitors the details of the coach.

HIS EXCELLENCY'S MESSAGE

To the Press representatives Sir Andrew Caldecott gave the following message in response to their enquiries as to his impressions of his visit to Canton.

"My wife and I have returned from Canton with the memories of two of the most wonderfully happy days in our lives. It was our extreme good fortune that on our first introduction to China we were able to pay our respects personally to the Generalissimo and Madame Chiang Kai-shek, and our only regret was that the latter's indisposition necessitated her leaving for Kuling yesterday. We are looking forward to hearing that the change of climate has resulted in her complete recuperation.

"Words fail me to describe the warmth and friendliness with length, following which the young Chinese performer drew away into a yard's lead as a result of good turns on the walls, but Marques, not to be outdone, had something in reserve and the end of the third length saw him level again with Wong.

Thrilling Finish

The last length was most thrilling and, despite putting every ounce of strength into his pulls, Wong lu-man was unable to shake off the challenge of Marques, who brought his reserve strength into play in the last five or six yards to win his first Colony title by a touch. Cpl. Fildes was a good third.

The 50 Yards free-style saw the five entries take the plunge almost together, although Goldman had a slight lead on the rest of the field and was actually the first to reach the wall, but a sluggish turn saw McCarthy and Ozorio which we were received and the excellence of the arrangements made for us. I was particularly struck by the smartness of the Guards of Honour and the efficiency of the police arrangements. We were very sad that owing to the Mayor's indisposition with an attack of fever we were unable to make the same personal contact with him as we so much enjoyed making with their Excellencies the Chairman of the Provincial Government and the Pacification Commissioner. The Mayor's Secretary was indefatigable in his kind services to us and in showing us round. We have come away deeply impressed by the progress of urban development and by those marvels of modern Chinese architecture, the Sun Yat-sen University and the Memorial Hall.

"We had a wonderful send-off at the station and I was happy to think that it was a case of 'au revoir' and not 'adieu', for we both look forward to visiting Canton another day and to meeting our kind hosts again, not only there but, very much hope, as our guests in Hong Kong."

A great crowd at the Station gave the Governor and Lady Caldecott an enthusiastic "welcome back" as they left by launch for Hong Kong.

Easy Polo Victory

The water-polo match was easily won by the Victoria Recreation Club against a selected Army side by 5 goals to 1, the home team proving the faster, while they outpositioned their opponents throughout and nearly all their goals were scored as the result of having a "free man."

The Army opened the scoring through Thorpe, but C. Roza-Pereira equalised and soon after A. A. da Roza scored. Roza Pereira scored his second goal before half time. It was not until the second half that Lawrence came into the picture, scoring two very fine goals as the result of solo efforts.

"HUMILIATION DAY" PASSES OFF QUIETLY IN CHINA

TWO DAYS' MARTIAL LAW LIFTED

(From A Special Correspondent)

Canton, Yesterday.

The 5th anniversary of Humiliation Day, the date on which China lost Manchuria, passed off peacefully yesterday, and the two days' martial law, ordered to be declared all through the country by the Generalissimo, was lifted at one o'clock this morning.

It will be remembered that at 10 p.m. on September 18, 1931, the Japanese army in Manchuria suddenly opened fire on a Chinese camp, and later occupied Mukden and Newchang. China then lost the three North-eastern provinces of Manchuria, and the Province of Yiehoo next in order, by non-resistance.

Observing this, the Generalissimo is busy in untiring the different provinces of China, and he has now succeeded in doing so after settling the Nanking-Kwangsi dispute. This unexpected unification of China has impressed the world, and the saying that "China is an imperfect organisation and cannot call herself a State in the strict sense" will probably not be heard again.

The Generalissimo's next task is to deal with the Sino-Japanese negotiations. His real attitude towards them is unknown. It is stated in the well-informed circles that the Generalissimo has ordered that all the documents of his Wu-chang and Nanchang field headquarters are to be removed to Whampoa, and he is now very busy having them endorsed day and night. Judging from this, the Generalissimo will go back to Nanking very soon. Mr. Shigeru Kawago, the Japanese Ambassador to China, has only exchanged views with Mr. Chang Chun, the Minister of Foreign Affairs, and he is waiting for the Generalissimo to discuss the Chengtu and Pakhol incidents and the readjustment of all Sino-Japanese problems.

The first meeting of the National Defence Committee will be called immediately after his return to Nanking. "War cannot be avoided in the Far East," declared General Li Chung-jen the other day, and General Li is requesting the Generalissimo to make Kwangsi the military training province. Last week General Chen Sheng was instructed to hold a military conference at Hankow on behalf of the Generalissimo, so as to strengthen the national defence of the Yangtze Valley. While in the South, Divisional Commander Chen Chang of the 4th Route Army has been ordered to dispatch the whole division to garrison the Hainan Island, which is rich in natural resources. It is reported that four Japanese warships are at Hainan, the main port of the island. Besides, conscription has been announced by the Nanking Central Government. All citizens of China with certain age-limits must enlist in the army for a number of years.

Whether China will still continue to bow to aggression or not will probably be decided after her People's Congress on November 2 this year. The whole country is now busy in selecting the delegates for this congress, which is a direct legacy of the referendum system. The congress will have to vote for the Constitution of China, drafted by the Legislative Yuan, and elect the first President of the Republic of China under this Constitution.

Generalissimo's Position

AFTER NATIONAL PEOPLE'S CONGRESS

The Chinese are now very doubtful about what will be the position of the Generalissimo after the congress. It should be understood that the head of the present Nanking Central Government is the Chairman of the Nationalist Government. He is only a nominal head. Public business is transacted at his hands and professed-

DOCTOR'S VISIT TO COLONY

Expected Arrival On Wednesday

Dr. H. W. Miller, Medical Secretary for both the China and Far Eastern Divisions of the Seventh Day Adventist Mission, who returned recently to Shanghai from America, is expected to arrive, by plane, in Canton next, Tuesday afternoon.

After performing several operations at the Canton Sanatorium, he will come to the Colony and board the R.M.S. Empress of Russia on Thursday for Manila. He is expected to arrive here on Wednesday evening.

Dr. Miller is also, concurrently, Superintendent of the Shanghai Sanatorium, and will return there to take up his work before the end of the year.

All China Is In Cat Street

With Flowing Liquid Life

Impressionistic Study Of Local Chinese Shops

(By PHYLLIS JUBY)

CAT Street and curios . . . and yet a delight comes, sharply: a possibly you see in your mind's eye the prosaic picture of a bargain. A skull-capped Chinese, bowing courteously and giving in; another little possession cheaply won. A smile of satisfaction, a short laugh, and a quick step back to the rickshaw . . . Cat Street? Oh yes, you know it well. You got this and that there; real bargains. But, you concede, it isn't what it used to be . . .

Down the long ladder of stone steps—a slow approach. Close, hot, and glaring; only the shade of tall walls glued with blackness.

Yet a delight comes, sharply: a soft child Buddha sits, intent, on a high iron chair. Cross-legged, the sole of one foot an open flower, softly leaning. Long amber legs high up on a plank, moving rhythmically backward and forward, the sawing of red wood. And then a family looking down, inquisitive, through the heavy iron bars. Three geese patterned on the stone steps, grey, gentle feathers; pulsating. A mother grasps her child's head between her knees and shaves it, scraping with a knife. The child never stirs. Only a huge white charter above shakes its bleached bones in a gust of wind.

Fifty Cents A Month
Chanting from a Buddhist school. Fifty cents a month—all that rhythm for 50 cents a month. A child brushes by, runs up the steps lightly in a red filled skirt. And then the road; two babies are wheeled by in a squeaking, dirty rattan push-cart, a pugnacious Chinese parent behind. Still the chanting; a clash of cymbals. Kan Kung Fat: Temple of the Duke Kan Buddha, a scholar who became a God, God of Integrity. Rows and rows of brown Buddhas, red-mantled. A red drum and Buddhist chant, low, monotonous chant of the Buddhist.

Sandalwood music.
The amah kneels and clouds of incense waft from her hands into the air, rest on the bright pink oaks, fall into the little tea bowls. The monks, copper-clad, finger the rosary beads, round symbols of nothingness. They fan themselves slowly and chant, clashing the bright metal discs that reflect the gleam of the copper.

The corner of Cat Street: hideous pink rattles for greeting; moth balls, tattered books, iron and rust, a block of ice in the fifth of the road, a gramophone with tremendous horn. Two flat salted fish on a tray and a snake neatly rolled and tied with bamboo; behind, the seller, spectacled, squatting open-mouthed. Men in happy profusion, placid. And above a sordid wall, leprous, but with an ornament: the pat kwa, eight trigrams, representing the Yang and the Yin, male and female principles, and the forces of nature.

A pure geometrical shape and built on the points of the compass, it is symbolical. Its shape embodies the Chinese idea of the universe, its portions are forces of nature, and having the aspect of nature, and having the aspect of the eight winds. To the common people, merely a sign of good luck; but still a thing respected. A charm and an amulet, but they must feel it is built on something precise, well-defined, a soothing conception.

At A Stall
We stop at a stall and gaze upon lotus roots and opium pipes; each with its end shaped as an ancient weapon: arrow, spear, or the cut-throat of an axe, symbol of power. Or one may finger a rosary of minute buddhas carved from plumstones, or of fantastic buddhist skulls. Or run one's palm over a long-handled wine-cup in white unpolished jade; a wine-cup raised at some ancient banquet.

The writing set from Peking, used by the Emperor Kien Lung, himself a poet, on which he placed his "Four Precious Things": brushes, inkstone, inkstick and paper. Its long boxes for the paper, its six round boxes, shaped as scrolls, for the pens, the chop-holder in the form of a drum, its box for ink in the shape of a Chinese piano. Inksticks that are old, flowery and refined. On one side a landscape like a little Chinese scroll unrolled; a five-storied pagoda in an anacard grove, circular waves that carry little boats . . . On the other side a gold-charactered poem—perhaps by Kien Lung himself.

The men gracious and polite, bowing; we are friends. Outside the children shouting, the hawkers shuffling and crying, the steaming bodies close upon one. All the hot, fetid air once more; the peanuts piled neatly, the caged bird content, springing in its tiny enclosed space. All China is here in Cat Street; its cruelty and its refinement, its filth and its fastidiousness, its well-defined patterns and its flowing, liquid life. All its contradictions.

Between two rows of red and white Ming snuff-boxes lies a pendant formed of the 12 cyclical animals carved on peachstones. The 12 animals which inhabit the Yellow Road of the Sun, Rat, Ox, Tiger, Hare, Dragon, Snake, Horse, Goat, Monkey, Cock, Dog and Pig. The cycle born of the dim past, when existed a close and intimate sympathy between man and animals. And each became an emblem. At the end of each year, the 12 secret days being over, the dance of the 12 animals, ending in orgy, was danced. And beside lie

THE ROMANTIC CANARY

And The Lady's Tactful Withdrawal

A romantically-minded wild canary gave up her life of freedom for a mate and a home in a cage.
Mrs. G. Bingham, of Thatcher, Arizona, put her pet canary's cage in the sun and soon afterwards heard a noise of tapping at the window. She saw a wild canary pecking the window pane. Opening both the window and the door of the cage, Mrs. Bingham tactfully withdrew. When she returned both birds were in the cage.

ancient pendants, shaped of jade and carved. A tablet of jade, over one foot in length, that hung from the Emperor's girdle. A flat blue ring of jade, symbol of heaven, the shape of heaven and the 12 months; a yellow tube, symbol of earth; a red "chang," the vermilion bird, of the south; a white "hu" of tiger design, the west; a semicircular black "huang" plain or ornamented, the tortoise of the north; a green "kuai" of rectangular shape, the green (or blue) dragon of the east.

All these things used each day by the young nobleman of old. On the left of his girdle he hangs "a knife and whetstone, a small punch of bone or ivory (to undo little knots), a metallic mirror (to obtain fire from the sun's rays). On the right he ties as archer's thimble and a brace for archery, a tube (containing writing instruments), a case containing a knife, a big punch (to undo the big knots), a wooden drill." We picture the young aristocrat, "like the dragging branch of the Houen lan," wearing on his belt an ivory spike. But "though he wears an ivory spike . . . his behaviour is nonchalant and free; his girdle ends hang down." Or, . . . like the leaf of the Houen lan, on his belt hangs an archer's thimble. Though he wears an archer's thimble, he has not made me feel his ability; nonchalant in his behaviour, too free in his manner, his girdle ends hang softly."

Other Items
There are long steel needles for cleaning the opium pipe; each with its end shaped as an ancient weapon: arrow, spear, or the cut-throat of an axe, symbol of power. Or one may finger a rosary of minute buddhas carved from plumstones, or of fantastic buddhist skulls. Or run one's palm over a long-handled wine-cup in white unpolished jade; a wine-cup raised at some ancient banquet.

MOTORING NOTES

STILL GOING STRONG

Ancient Buick Passes State Test

The oldest car to pass the Colorado State inspection test thus far is a 1908 Buick owned by C.C. Dill of Denver. When Dill took his car in it was discovered that the lights did not work, although everything else was in perfect working order. Dill protested that lights were not necessary, because he never drove at night. The matter was taken up with Joseph Marsh, supervisor of the State Motor Courtesy Patrol, who insisted that the car had to have lights, in case Dill got caught out after dark. The lights were fixed up and the test was passed.

Dill does not know how far the car has travelled because he threw the speedometer away 15 years ago, when it wore out at 250,000 miles.

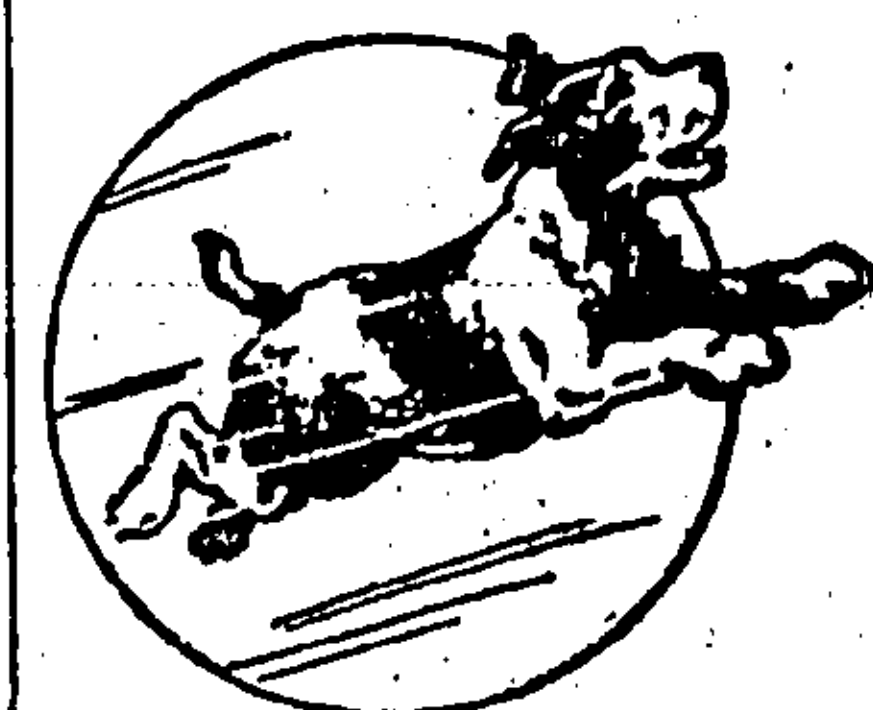

"UNCLIMBABLE" HILL

Conquered By Ford V-8 Cars

Run largely on War Office testing grounds, by special permission, and consisting of a selection of extremely stiff climbs one after another, the Lawrence Cup event organised by the North-West London Motor Club is invariably an interesting short trial.

Fifty-six competitors started this year, and the piece de resistance was the "Red Roads" section at the end, which was regarded as unclimbable, and could be omitted at the individual competitor's option.

The result was largely a triumph for the Ford V-8, for the Lawrence Cup was won by S. H. Allard driving a Ford V-8 Special, while owners of this car obtained two of the only four cups awarded for climbing the "unclimbable" Red Roads.

Playing An Unnatural Contract

IN a recent Individual tournament held at Crockford's Club in New York City, a hand was dealt on which only one of the teams arrived at the best contract. Since the game was being scored on the match point basis, many of the players made unnatural bids in an effort to score a "Howell Top." However, all of those players with one exception, instead of getting the top score that they were trying to attain, wound up very close to the bottom.

It is easily seen that seven hearts is a laydown on the hand, and the fulfillment of this contract depends only on a trump break. However, in a greedy effort to secure the honour score, a great many East players failed completely to support any heart bid made by West and, as a result, reached either a game or Slam contract in spades or a Small Slam contract in hearts. Only one team bid the Grand Slam in hearts.

Naturally, those players who played the hand at a spade contract received a diamond opening, and the Declarer immediately had to face a very serious problem. At a contract of four spades in Rubber Bridge the proper procedure with a diamond opening is to discard one heart and two clubs on the first three rounds of diamonds, thus insuring the contract of four spades, even against a 4-2 trump division.

However, at a six spades contract such tactics obviously could not be pursued. One East player playing at six spades received a diamond opening, ruffed the first trick and, in desperation, then proceeded to play for a 3-3 spade break, despite the fact that the North player had bid diamonds up to five-odd, indicating an unbalanced distribution. Obviously, when the trumps did not break, poor East could only cash two heart tricks and three club tricks before South trumped in with the thirteenth trump and then proceeded to allow North to run several diamond tricks.

Believe it or not, however, one East player succeeded in finding the way to make six spades against a diamond opening. How this particular East player guessed the winning line of play is more than I know—probably the opponents showed him their hands. At any rate, the play went as follows: A diamond was opened, and East trumped in with the spade 10. East immediately discarded the thought of playing for a 3-3 spade break, and proceeded to cash the Ace and King of hearts in Dummy. He then played the Ace and King of trumps in his own hand, leaving himself with the long Jack in his own hand and the lone Queen in Dummy. He now proceeded to run his club suit. On the fourth club South had two possible lines of defence open to him—neither of which could bring about the defeat of the contract. Actually, South ruffed in on the fourth club, and Dummy overtrumped with the spade Queen. The Declarer now led a heart from Dummy, playing the Queen from his own hand, and South trumped. However, Declarer still had a trump left, and was able to claim the rest of the tricks.

Had South failed to trump in on the fourth round of clubs, the Declarer would merely have discarded a heart from Dummy and then played another club. The same situation would have again presented itself to the South player, who must realize that failure to ruff would give the Declarer another discard from Dummy and thus enable him to make his two remaining trumps separately, for his eleventh and twelfth tricks.

An amazing line of play, indeed!

"Okay, honey," replied Fancy Dan jauntily. "I'll drive you over. My car's right outside and then we can get over there in a jiffy."

Get her in the car. That's the answer. Let Ryan in on the picture. Ryan'd find a way. But no rough stuff! He'd have to handle Ryan—and her too.

"You're a swell guy," she said honestly. Fancy Dan blushed. The leather case, he noticed, was buried in her handbag.

In the lobby she paused uncertainly. "Oh," she said, "I almost forgot. Mrs. Dexter said to call her as soon as you got the safe open."

Fancy Dan seconded the thought. He wanted a half minute alone with Ryan. "Meet you at the door," he said. She turned toward the long line of telephone booths across the lobby.

"Just a minute. Come again," demanded Ryan, leaning away from the steering wheel. "It's just like I'm telling you. I'm working smooth. Then in comes this maid and there I am—sunk."

"Why, you panty waist!" Ryan barked, "why didn't you knock her—"

"Well," Fancy Dan replied lamely, "no use beating up the kid. She's so dumb she'll go right along with us anyhow. She's in there waiting on me right now. She thinks I'm Romeo."

"Listen, Romeo. I go along in there with you this time. There's gonna be no more slips." Ryan had leaped to the curb.

"Okay. You're just my driver from Mowry's," Fancy Dan explained, hurrying along through the door. "You're coming in to see what took me so long, see?"

His eyes were sweeping the row of telephone booths. Ryan, big and impatient, loomed beside him. "Well?" he demanded.

Fancy Dan walked down the row of booths. They were all empty. "Have you seen Mrs. Dexter's maid around here?" Fancy Dan nervously asked the operator.

"She was here a minute ago," yawned that bored individual. "There she is, coming through that door."

Fancy Dan almost yelped his relief. He turned. The girl designated as Mrs. Dexter's maid had just come through the revolving door. She was definitely a looker. Cute figure. Cute smile. Cute way she walked.

But to Fancy Dan she was a total stranger.

BANK ROBBER'S PETITION

Recorded Conviction To Stand

Sir Godfrey Collins, Secretary for Scotland, has rejected a petition asking for a reduction of the sentence of eight years' penal servitude passed on June 18 at Edinburgh on Roderick Maxwell, of Armadale, West Lothian, in connection with the Slamannan bank robbery last December.

The petition was signed by nearly 8,000 people in West Lothian, Lanarkshire, Fifeshire, and Edinburgh, and was presented by Mr. George Mathers, M.P. for Linlithgow and Scottish Labour Whip.

SON'S GRIEF FOR MOTHER

From Death-Bed To River

Five hours after he had left the death-bed of his mother at Ordnance-road, East Greenwich, the body of Frederick Thomas Bus, aged 33, was taken from the Thames near his home.

At the inquest at Deptford last month it was stated that Bus had been in bad health since he left the Army, and was constantly depressed. He had told his father that his mother was all he lived for.

A verdict of suicide while of unsound mind was recorded.

ANTI-HEROIN WORK SCOPE FOR OFFICIAL ACTION SPECIAL WARDS AT HOSPITALS REQUIRED

(By A Special Correspondent)

In view of the alarmingly large number of heroin cases reported almost daily, the article on anti-heroin work which appeared in last Sunday's issue of the Sunday Herald, giving the views of Mr. Lo Wing Kit, chairman of the Directors of the Tung Wah Hospital, attracted no little attention, especially amongst the section of the Chinese community who are particularly interested in this branch of work.

In an effort to obtain their views on the matter, I approached several Chinese gentlemen who are directly concerned with the running of the Tung Wah Eastern Hospital, where an anti-opium ward has been established. It was while I was thus occupied that I learned that one of the main movers of the scheme is Mr. Lau King-ting, one of the Directors of the Tung Wah Hospital.

Mr. Lau was very emphatic in his views that anti-heroin work can be carried on in the Tung Wah and its affiliated hospitals and he said that, provided sanction was forthcoming from the right quarters, he felt sure that ways and means could be found to establish such wards.

It may not be generally known that Mr. Lau has already done much of the spadework in connection with the scheme and although he has received little or no encouragement in the matter, it is his intention, I understand, to leave no stone unturned until the goal is gained. Purely from a humanitarian point of view, Mr. Lau explained, the heroin addicts in the Colony should be given every opportunity to redeem themselves, and Mr. Lau and a great many of his co-workers feel that if only a little sympathy is shown, much good can be achieved.

There is a Government subsidised anti-opium ward in the Tung Wah Hospital. Heroin is an even more destroying drug than opium, and if the opium addicts are being helped, why not those afflicted by the heroin curse?

ACCOMMODATION

So far as the question of accommodation is concerned, it is understood that room can be found in the Tung Wah Hospital for the establishment of an anti-heroin ward. The room on the third floor of the old block now used by the dressers in the Hospital, for instance, might be converted into such a ward and the dressers might have their quarters in that building formerly used as a refuge shelter, which is at present vacant. The dressers themselves, I have been informed, have long been complaining that as their quarters are in the hospital proper, immediately next to the wards as it were, those off duty find it very difficult to have any rest, what with the audible sufferings of the patients and all the other noises.

So far as the Tung Wah Eastern Hospital is concerned, I understand that there is a yard on the second floor of this establishment, known as the Kiu On "C" ward, that is absolutely vacant at the moment, where 12 patients may be accommodated. It would seem, therefore, that the argument that there is no space must fall to the ground, and if permission is obtained, the work may be begun here almost at once.

FINANCE QUESTION

Dealing with the question of finance, Mr. Lau informed me that the annual expenditure would not amount to more than $3,000, including an initial expenditure of $500, for the purchase of beds and other furniture necessary for the anti-heroin ward.

Mr. Lau said that it is quite true that when an addict finds that he has no money to buy the drug, he will willingly go to the hospital for treatment, in the hope that he will thus be relieved of his great desire for the drug, but the moment he makes a few cents, forgotten are all his good resolutions and he falls back to his old ways again. Against this, however, Mr. Lau said that he felt sure that a greater percentage of those having had treatment would be cured of their habits and thus become better citizens, and more suitable to take their places in the world.

PRIVATE TREATMENT

There are a number of private practitioners now, said Mr. Lau, who are treating, privately, heroin addicts with a fair measure of success, and it was the success thus achieved that led him to hope that even greater things could be accomplished by the establishment of anti-heroin wards. If the powers-that-be found it inadvisable to open such wards in all the hospitals at the same time, they might do so gradually, starting with just one ward in the Tung Wah Hospital; and if, at the expiration of six months or a year, the experiment should prove a success, similar wards might be established in the other institutions.

Mr. Lau's views on the matter are shared by a good many people who have expressed their willingness to support the scheme, provided official support is forthcoming. It is a service to society which should not be turned down unless the reasons for doing so are unquestionable, but as far as can be gathered, the reasons are more in favour, rather than against, the establishment of such clinics.

HELP FOR REFUGEES

London: A letter appears in the morning papers, signed by the Archbishops of Canterbury and York, the Archbishop of Westminster and others, appealing for funds for British refugees from Spain, many of whom have reached England entirely destitute. About 400 are being maintained from charitable funds and a comparable number still in Gibraltar or Marseilles are also dependent on charity.

Harrowing examples are cited of men and women who have spent most of their lives in Spain, having business or professional connections, and who have had to leave behind everything, down to the smallest personal effects. A men, since it fears that a revolt may break out at any moment.

Insurgents Continue To Advance

HEAVY LOSSES SUFFERED BY GOVERNMENT

Badajoz: The advance of the Nationalist troops on the Talavera front continues without interruption. The vanguard of the insurgents is now only 15 kilometres from Toledo.

The losses suffered by the Government forces in the recent fighting on the Talavera front are stated to have been extremely heavy. It is asserted that the Government troops lost several thousand dead in the recent action. The Nationalists captured no fewer than 101 guns from the retreating Reds.

Numerous young boys, many of them not older than 15 years of age, as well as women are fighting in the ranks of the Red Militia. About 200 women have been taken prisoners by the insurgents in recent fighting.

In several instances Fascists, posing as supporters of the Madrid Government, risked their lives in attempts to further the Nationalist cause. Thus a detachment of the Nationalist Legionaries was enabled to storm a machine-gun nest whose position was prematurely revealed by a Fascist machine-gunner who fought in the ranks of the Red Militia. The machine-gunner in question began to fire long before effective fire was possible and took careful aim not to hit any of the advancing insurgents. The Nationalists were thus enabled to capture the machine-gun nest without losing a single man.

The Fascist machine-gunner, who was killed by a hand-grenade in the action, was identified by his Fascist membership card found in the pocket of his uniform. The heroic machine-gunner was accorded a funeral with full military honours by the Nationalists, and Colonel Yague personally attended the funeral.
